VOL. 23 No. 4849 | Lancaster Farming, Saturday, October 7, 1978 | $6.00 Per Year

National Fire Prevention Week is Oct. 8-14

Fire prevention urged

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — On an average, fires in the United States damage or consume 1312 homes, 84 farm buildings, 415 apartment buildings, 97 school and college buildings, 15 churches, 86 hospitals, nursing homes and other institutions, 238 stores and offices, 73 restaurants and taverns, 145 industrial plants, and 188 storage facilities per day.

Eighteen people die each day from fire where they live. Thirty per cent of all fire victims are children.

Fire is one of the biggest causes of loss in agriculture. In addition to a quarter of a billion dollar loss in property, priceless personal possessions and emotional tranquility going up in smoke, many farm residents are seriously injured or killed in fires each year.

National Fire Prevention Week is observed - not celebrated - by the United States and Canada each

READING — Stony Creek Valley Coalition, Inc., Dauphin County, was named the Conservation Organization of the year this week as part of the activities at the 31st joint annual conference of the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation District Directors, Inc. and the State Conservation Commission.

Stony Creek Valley Coalition, Inc., is a volunteer organization that was incorporated in 1974. It consists of 53 conservation, civic, and sportmen's groups representing 20,000 members. THe goal of the Coalition is to preserve a unique natural area in Stony Creek Valley known as St. Anthny's Wilderness.

The Wilderness is threatened by proposed plans of two major utilities to construct a hydroelectric pumped storage plant. The Coalition feels that facilities of this type should be constructed in a scarred area rather than in a high quality environmental setting such as Stony Creek Valley.

KENNETT SQUARE — A unique pig operation which is under development at the University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center, near here, will have both educational and business values for a large segment of Pennsylvania pork producers.

Being built at a cost of approximately $750,000, the 480-sow operation is the cooperative effort between the School of Veterinary Medicine at the Univeristy of Pennsylvania and a group of Lancaster County farmers. Also contributing to the operation is Penn-Jersey Harvestore Systems, Inc. of New Holland. The idea behind the venture is to provide veterinary students at the University with a training ground for practices involving pigs, while supplying the eight investors in the operation with a source of feeder pigs. All of the manure from the operation

Do you like to shop around for pullets?

On what do you base your decisions? The quoted 20 week old price?

Here's a few pertinent questions to ask yourself about your last delivery:

1. Did the quoted price include delivery?
2. Were the birds fed to optimum body weight?
3. How many pounds of feed did they consume to reach 50% production?
4. At what age did they reach 50% large eggs?

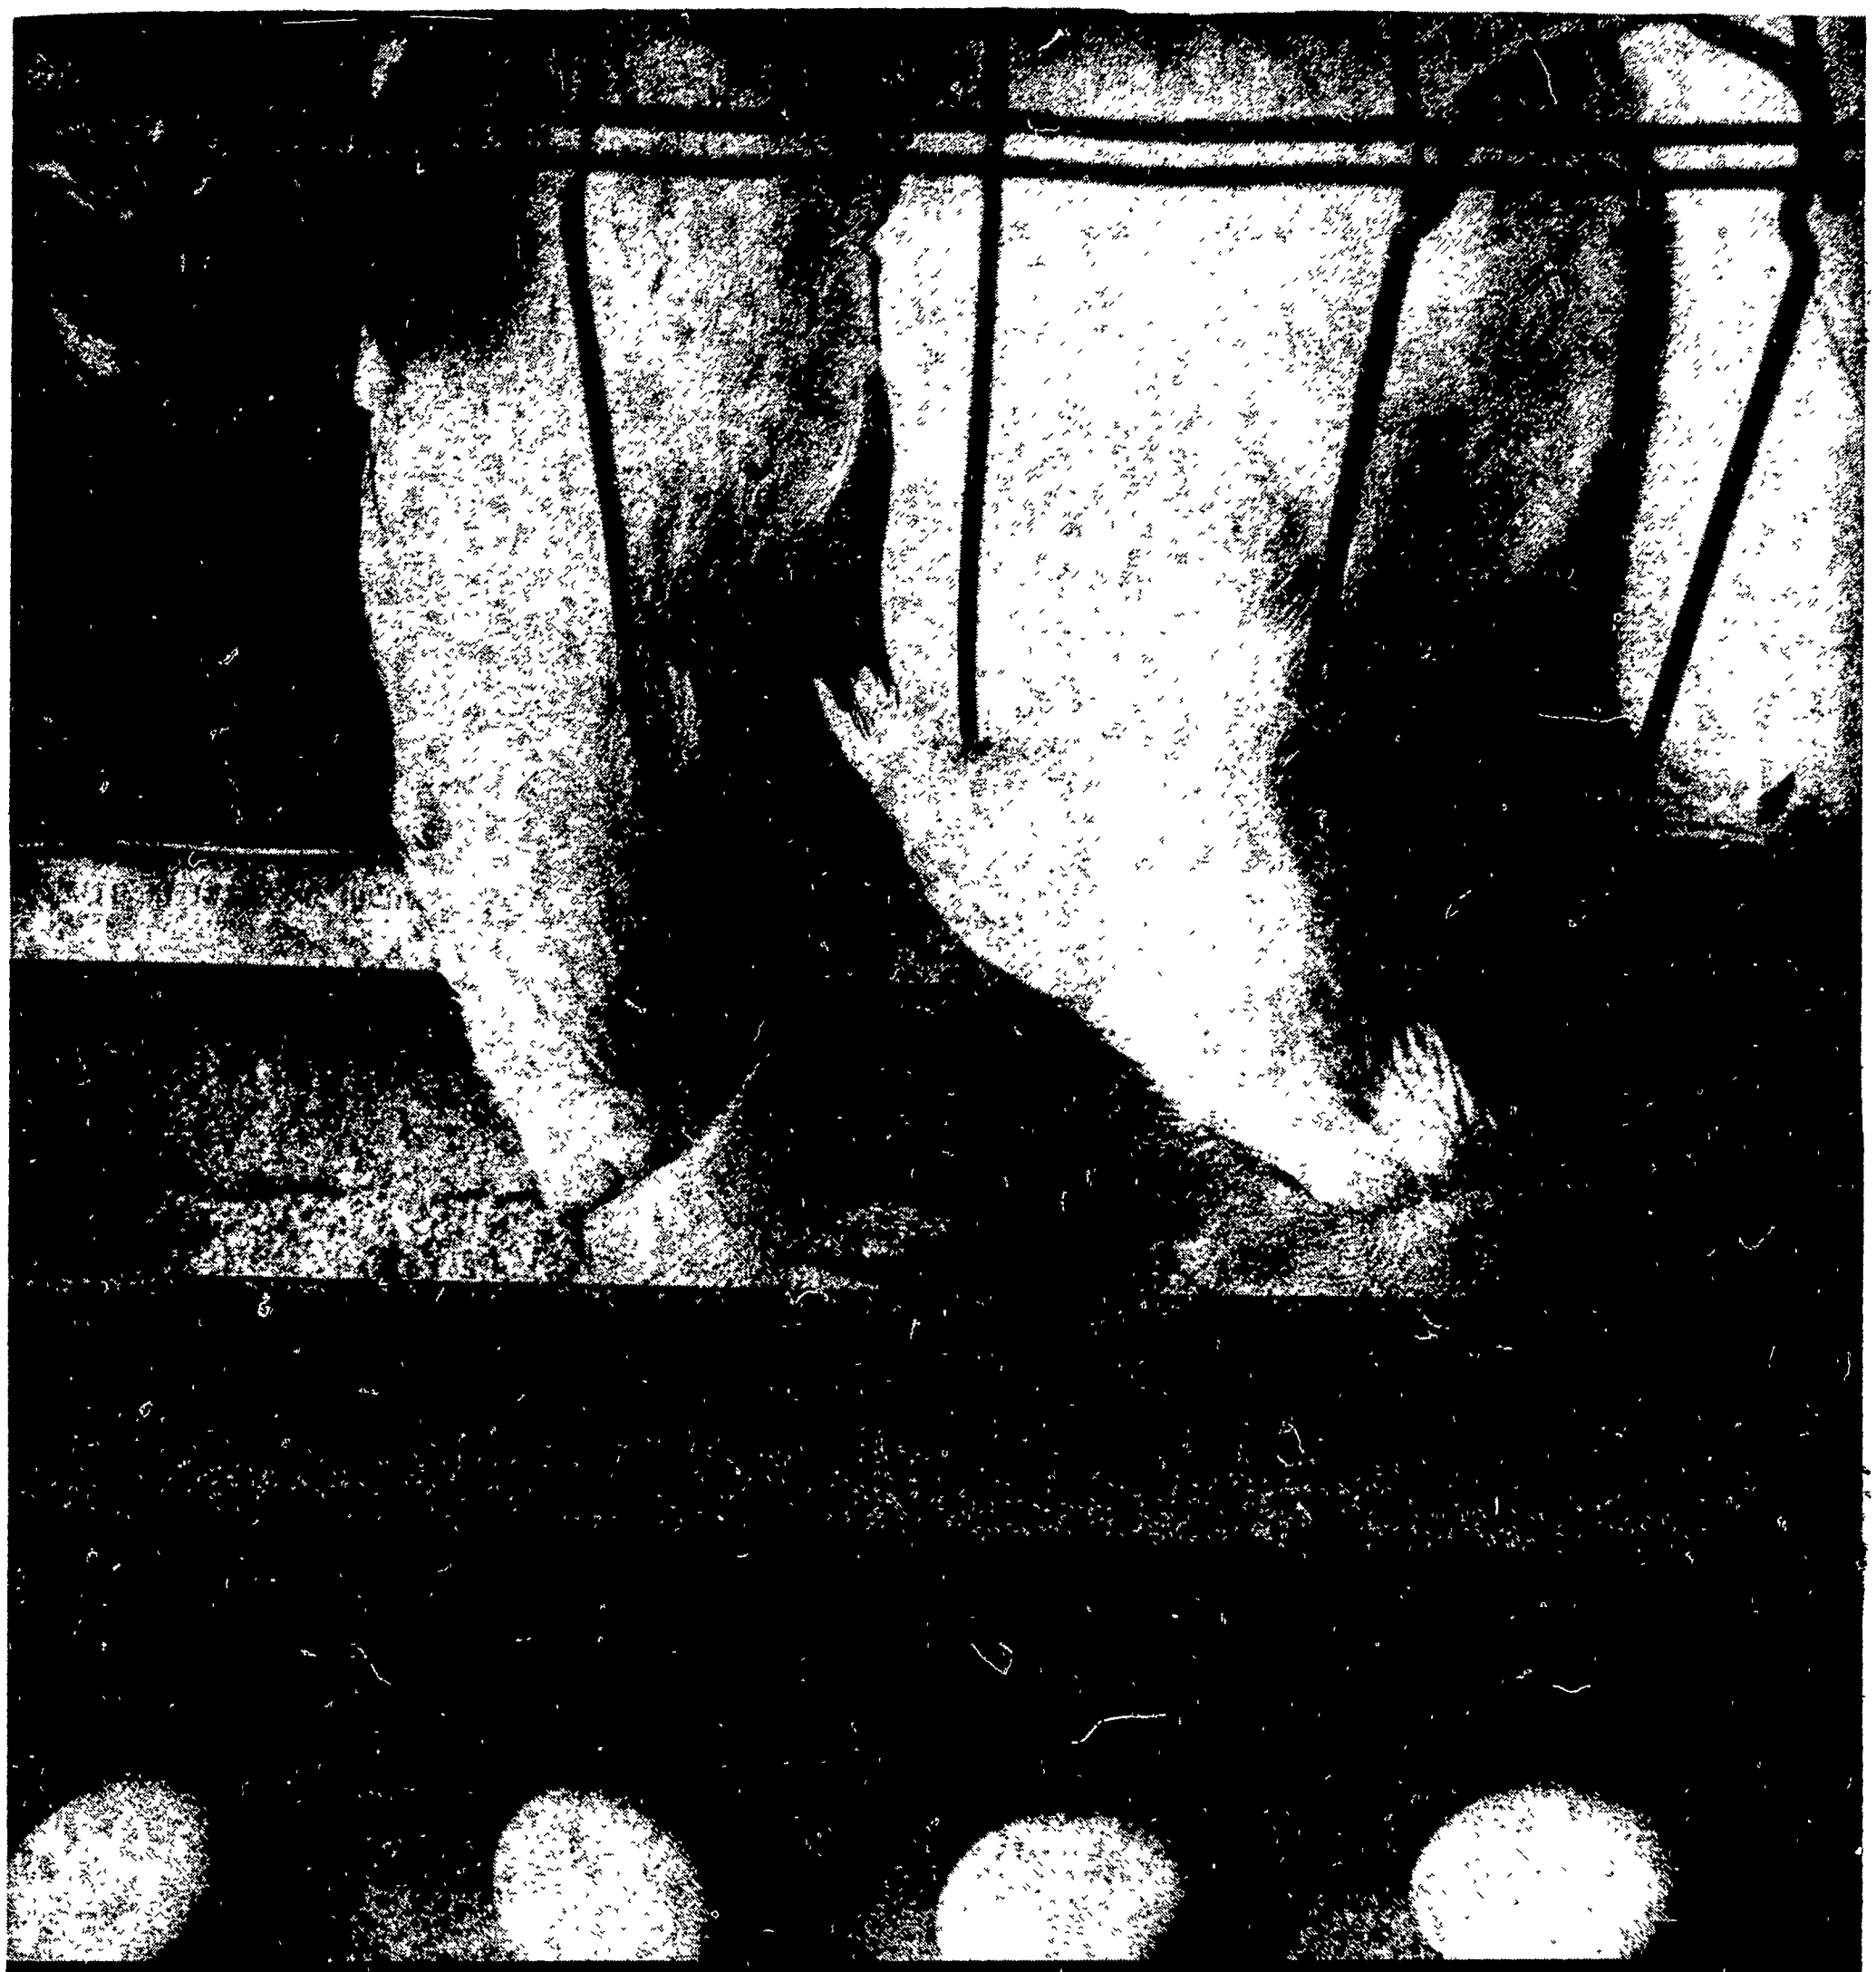
HUBBARD WHITE MT. BROILERS



From chick to cage, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Do you have an open mind?

Are you ready to devote an hour or two of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop custom feeding programs for each individual operation.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your operation with you. Your goals. Your records. The health and overall condition of your birds. Whether you grow chicks or buy started pullets. The type of equipment you use. The production potential of your flock. Your management practices. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

With the aid of computers, we then design a feeding program specifically tailored to your birds needs—a program that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, increasing production, or both.

For example, when we recommended producers switch from a competitive 18% protein feed to an optimum-nutrient density Pennfield feed, there was no loss in production—and this one recommendation has saved as much as $12,000 a year depending on flock size.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service. But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us. Do it today.

You get better feed conversion and lower cost of gain with corn-soy and Vigortone.

If you're feeding hogs from birth-to-market, corn-soy and Vigortone will make you more money. Your figures will prove it.

Start out with more uniform litters at less cost with Vigortone's Sow Prep No 4A. When feeding less than four lbs. of feed, use Sow Prep No 54. You'll have big savings over self-feeding programs.

Then, save 50% on your pre-starter rations with Vigortone's Creep Wean No. 3. This highly potent pre-mix contains vitamins, minerals and amino acids that assure fast growth right through weaning. Your baby pigs will really go for this highly palatable pre-starter because you grind and mix it yourself — fresh

Add your choice of antibiotic to your pre-starter, or use Creep Wean No 3C with Mecadox * It controls swine dysentery and bacterial swine enteritis

At 45 pounds, put your pigs on Vigortone 16% starter ration. Your cost of gain will be lower, because you again prepare it yourself using homegrown feedstuffs and Vigortone.

Keep your pigs on corn-soy and Vigortone right on through growing and finishing. Your hogs are assured the essential balance and levels of amino acids, major minerals, trace minerals, and vitamins

Make more money this year by lowering your feed costs from birth-to-market Feed Vigortone fortified corn-soy rations.

Now is the time to compare

See your Vigortone dealer soon. He's ready to compare the performance of Vigortone s low-cost swine feeding programs with any other you name.

Livestock market and auction news

Omaha Cattle

October 5, 1978

CATTLE - Compared with the previous week's close - closed firm to 25 cents higher. Cows were firm to mostly 50 cents higher and bulls firm to 1.00 higher.

Four day receipts 14,300 as compared 12,700 previous week and 13,900 a year ago. The fed cattle trade followed much the same pattern as the previous week. Prices declined slightly on the opening session in view of a rather sluggish carcass trade, and most buying interests were rather cautious and selective. Later trading was fairly active, however, as carcass trading improved, and most buying interests became aggressive for numbers to meet immediate requirements. Best demand centered on Choice and Prime consignments 1100-1300 lb. steers and 950-1075 lb. heifers carrying a minimal number of yield grade 4 animals the overall finish was fairly attractive with a liberal percentage Choice and a moderate volume Choice and Prime. Steers made up approximately 34 percent of the week's total and heifers 31 percent. Cows comprised 10 percent and feeders 12 percent.

STEERS: Few loads and several part loads Choice and Prime 3-4 1144-1292 lbs. 55.75-56.00. Choice 2-4 1000-1300 lb. ranged 54.50-55.75, bulk sales 55.00-55.50, load mostly Choice 2-3 1361 lb. Holsteins 53.00 Tuesday. Mixed Good and Choice 2-3 975-1250 lbs. 54.25-55.00. Good 2-3 48.50-54.25, Holsteins 48.50-50.00. Standard and Good 2-3 47.00-48.50.

Average of LS-214, detailed quotations, for Choice 900-1100 lb. steers this week 54.98; Choice 1100-1300 lbs. 55.02. Average weight steers first three days 1142 lbs. as compared 1140 lbs. pervious week. Average weight heifers first three days 992 lbs. as compared 978 lbs. previous week.

HEIFERS: Several loads and part loads Choice and Prime 3-4 975-1075 lbs. 53.75-54.00, several loads same grade with substantial percentage 4 1025-1100 lbs. 53.25-53.50; Choice 2-4 875-1100 lbs. 52.00-53.50, occasionally 53.75. Mixed Good and Choice 2-3 850-1050 lbs. 50.50-52.00. Good 2-3 47.00-49.50.

COWS: Utility and Commercial 2-4 40.50-43.00, few 43.25-43.50. Cutter 38.50-41.00. Canner and Low-cutter 36.00-38.50. Heiferettes 43.50-48.50.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS By DIETER KRIEG, EDITOR

Yes — it can happen to you

Farmers are generally known as an optimistic breed. Some say they have to be if they want to survive. The opposite could be true. Optimism could be wrong - even dead wrong.

Take the attitude: "It can't happen to me."

That's misplaced optimism. It could end up with lost fingers, limbs, or even death.

The warnings go out annually, and they also appear on practically every piece of farm equipment. "Keep Hands and Feet Away From Moving Parts." "Turn Machine Off Before Servicing." The list could go on to include chemicals, bulls, electrical equipment, silos, etc.

Sadly, each year brings new accidents and deaths with it despite the reports of accidents and repeated warnings. The attitude of "It can't happen to me" seems to be forever prevalent. Sad too, is the truth that it can happen to you.

Not convinced?

Consider the speed of the cylindrical cutterhead of a forage harvester. It travels at a rate of 16 revolutions per second. If that doesn't sound very fast, then try 120 feet of razor-sharp knife surfaces hitting the corn stalks each second. The gathering chains are fast too. One false move by a man who dares to challenge that frightening power and he may lose an arm, leg, or even his life.

Of all the farm machines which have injured or killed people, the corn picker is probably the most common. Again, people oftentimes fail to realize the incredible speed and power of the gathering chains and snapping rolls. Even at idling speed they can pull an arm off in a split-second The proof of that statement lies in the fact that it has happened to hundreds of farmers who thought it couldn't be so.

Sitting in the shed, the corn picker looks dead. In action, out in the field, it is deadly. The entire machine vibrates and hums with activity The speedy cogs, chains, and rolls can't tell the difference between ears of corn and a person's hands.

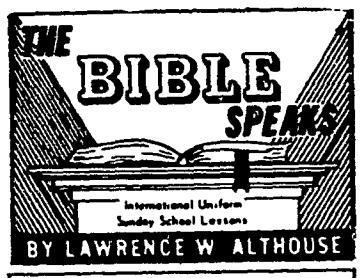
The snapping rolls travel at a speed of 12 feet per second. Too many men have tested the accuracy of that statement by ignoring the warnings on shields and in operator's manuals.

A third danger of the corn harvest is in the silo. It's as deadly as an unseen poisonous snake waiting for its prey. Many times, the tragedy strikes without warning The danger, of course, are the gases which are released during the fermentation process.

Farmers are warned each year not to enter a recently filled silo, and if they really must, then they should never do it without having a blower force fresh air into the structure beforehand, as well as during their time inside the silo.

A fourth danger that comes with the annual corn harvest can be found in the grain bins All those bushels of corn can act like quicksand if a person dares to walk inside. Slowly but surely, he can be swallowed up by the crop. It happens somewhere every year.

Whether the danger comes in the form of a fascinating but dangerous machine, a storage bin, chemical, gas, mean bull, or loose floor board, the first rule for preventing accidents might well be to realize that tragedies don't just strike anywhere but home. The philosophy of optimism doesn't apply to avoiding accidents.



THE GODS OF 1978

Lesson for October 8, 1978

Background Scripture:
Exodus 20:3-7;
Josua 24:14, 15;
Matthew 5:33-37; 6:24;
Luke 4:8; John 4:24

Devotional Reading:
John 5:19-24

"You shall have no other gods before me" (Exodus 20:3).

These words seem to have a strange and archaic ring to them.

"Other gods"? To be sure, we realize the primitive men in some far corners of the world are still polytheists. But the major religions of mankind that account for the vast majority of the world's believers – Christianity, Judaism, Islam, Buddhism, and even Hinduism (which to the uninformed appears to be polytheistic) – all these are essentially monotheistic. If the adherents of these faiths disagree, it is not over the question of whether there is one God or many, but what is the most accurate representation of the one God.

A "Jealous God"

The first commandment in Exodus forbidding the worship of "other Gods" (20:3) seems, therefore, to have little meaning or relevance for us today. We may not serve God with the devotion he seeks, but neither does he have any competitors in this modern age.

Or does he?

Are there not some subtle gods that contend with the Lord of the universe for our worship and service? Theologian John Bright once wrote:

"For that to which a man looks for his ultimate well-being, his salvation no less, and that from which he derives his standards of conduct – that is his god. And we have no lack of them. (THE KINGDOM OF GOD, Abingdon Press, 1953)"

If Bright is right – and I am convinced he is – then God still has good reason to be the "jealous" deity depicted for us in the Old Testament.

The God of Mammon

Nor is this strictly an Old Testament concept. On the Mount of Temptation following his baptism, Jesus cries: "Begone, Satan, for it is written, 'You shall worship the Lord your God and him only shall you serve' " (Matthew 4:10). Later, in the Sermon on the Mount Jesus updated the first commandment so that even his nominally monotheistic countrymen could understand its challenge:

"No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon. (5:24)'

Baal, the Canaanite god, is long-forgotten, as are Melak and Astarte, but Mammon is still with us! An Arabic word meaning "wealth", Mammon is very much worshipped today for it is to material wealth that many of us look for our ultimate well-being, our salvation "no less," and even our standards of conduct. One does not have to be a theologian to realize that in this year of 1978 there are still "other gods" who vie for the worship and service that belongs to the Lord alone.

TO UTILIZE CORN FODDER

Corn growers who are not making the crop into silage might consider the making of the corn stalks into bedding material. The market value of all livestock bedding is very high, and can be used on the farm or sold to others. After the corn is picked and the stalks dry, the corn can be shredded and baled.

This material makes very good bedding for box-stalls and feedlot pens; the fodder absorbs water rapidly and when shredded gives less trouble in mechanical handling. When used on the farm as bedding, it can still be returned to the soil as added organic matter.

TO PREPARE FOR COLD WEATHER

The month of October is a good time to get ready for freezing weather. Water-cooled motors should be treated with anti-freeze solutions, or drained after being used. Exposed water pipes need attention to keep from freezing. They may be buried at least 30 inches into the ground, or wrapped with electric heating cable.

Thawing frozen water pipes on a cold morning is not pleasant; frozen cooling systems in tractors and motors are expensive. Prevent these problems by getting ready for freezing weather in the near future.

TO OBSERVE NEW CATTLE

Cattle feeders are facing one of the largest investments in recent years. Replacement cattle continue to be very high and very much in demand. No doubt many feeders will have more money tied up in their cattle this fall than ever before. Under these conditions, it is very important to keep losses to a minimum.

To do this the "eye of the master" is still most important. Feeders are urged to observe their cattle several times each day; cattle that are "slow" and keep to themselves, or do not come up and eat and drink normally, should be separated and treated. A thermometer is a "must" to detect serious infections.

Animals that are segregated from the rest of the herd, and treated soon after they go off feed, will usually recover in a few days. Delayed treatment results in the infection spreading and greater mortality.

TO KEEP PIGS WARM

The extremely cold weather of the past two winters has resulted in high pig losses in the feedlot. Most farrowing operations have supplemental heat in the building to keep the baby pigs warm. However, when they are sold to the fattening operator, they often do not have warm enough quarters

We urge that feeders be sure the pigs are comfortable; when they pile up in cold weather, they are too cold. Insulated sidewalls, solid partitions, hovers over their sleeping quarters are things that can be done to keep them warm.

Cold pigs means respiratory and digestive troubles. When they are warm enough they will spread out in the sleeping area. Check temperatures down at floor level - not at man-high levels.

Chorus to perform October 11

LANCASTER — The Lancaster Liederkranz Singing Society is hosting the 65-member all-male Ludenscheider Master Chorus from Luden-Scheid, Germany. The chorus, which has been compared with the same singing quality and precision as that of the prestigious 200-plus member Mormon Tabarnacle Choir, will be performing at Hensel Hall on the Franklin and Marshall College Campus.

It will be a 2-hour concert featuring sacred music, in German, a variety of classic works, as well as traditional folk songs and popular American favorites.

There will be just one performance, that taking place at 8 p.m. on Wednesday evening, October 11.

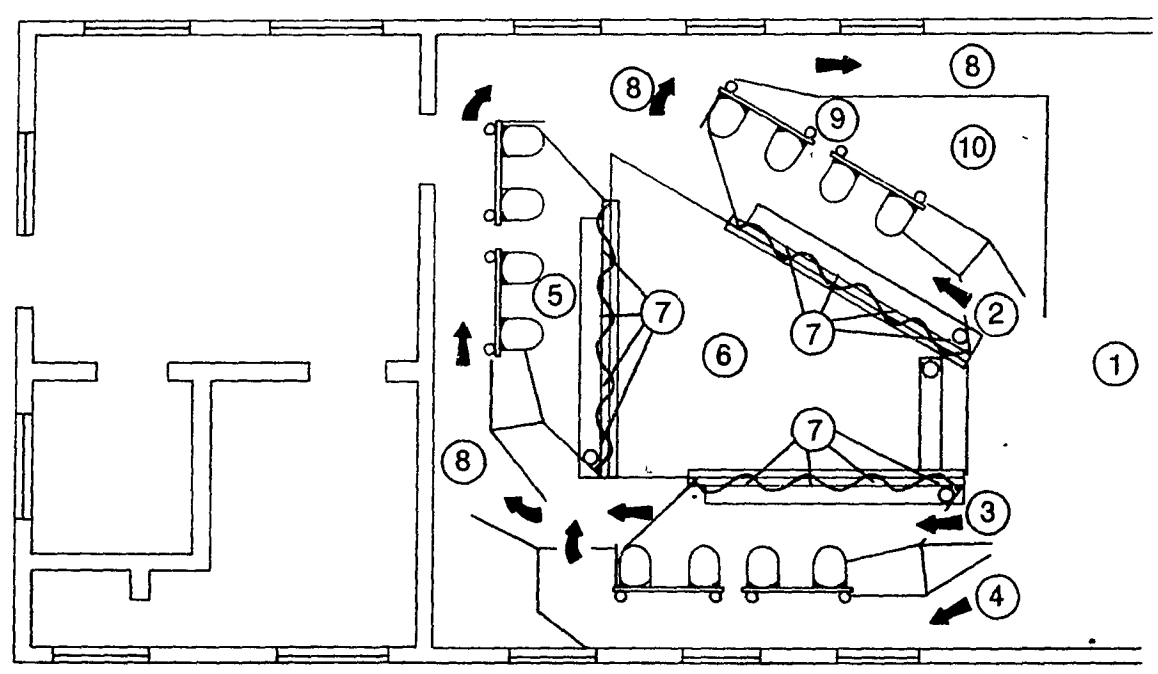
12-Stall Clay Trigon Milking Parlor

A 12-Stall Trigon is basically a Double-4 Herringbone, plus 4 additional herringbone stalls across the end, arranged as a Trigon!



Here's How Clay Trigon Milking Parlor Works

Trigon arrangement calls for three rows of four herringbone milking stalls designed around a triangle Cows are brought into parlor from holding area (1) Clay crowd gate can make this operation more efficient Cows enter parlor at either three entrances (2), (3), and (4) At (2) and (3) they go directly into herringbone At (4) cows go behind row of stalls (3) and enter through gates to milking area (5) Automated air operated power gates can make this operation smooth and easy. Operator is in 30" deep milking area (6) and he milks cows by moving in a circular pattern around parlor Udder stimulators (7) can be used to prepare cows The operator attaches the milker unit When cow has been milked the milker unit can be removed by automated take-off units, or manually The cows leave the parlor in the return lane (8) Power operated cutting gates (9) can be used to divert cows that need treatment into a catch pen (10)

Ideal for Fast, Efficient One-Man Milking

Historically, one man has worked most efficiently in a Double-4 Herringbone milking parlor Double-6's have been developed and an outstanding operator can operate it on a one-man basis over a short period of time Now the fully automated Trigon makes it possible for one-man to operate the milking capacity equivalent of a Double-8, with fewer steps and more cow control Fully automated entrance and exit gates, automatic take-off units on the milking machines, and such other automated units as the Clay Cow Fetch crowd gate, automatic udder stimulators, power operated cutting gates, Easy Action doors, and feed bowl closures make this design a model for efficiency and economical operation In a fully automated 12-Stall Trigon one man can milk up to 80 cows per hour!

Mill-Fresh Premixes Keep The Milk Flowing

(And Help Your Cash Flow, Too)

That's what you want from a mineral-vitamin premix, isn't it? Young's doesn't believe in loading you up with big orders. Instead, we try to deliver only about a month's supply at a time. You get it MILL-FRESH, generally shipped out a couple of days after it's mixed. And that makes the big difference to you — getting the quality you paid for. It helps your cash flow, too, because your premix investment is tied up for shorter periods.

VM Diesel

"THE DIESEL WITH A DIFFERENCE"

Cuts your power costs because it's way ahead of its time on all points.

AVCO-VM diesel engines are world-proven money-savers. They deliver maximum power efficiency immediately, under any sudden load or climate variation. Their higher power to weight ratios mean NO REDUCTION IN HORSEPOWER to qualify for pollution standards.

They're stingy on fuel, too. Many users report fuel consumption CUT IN HALF — and more — compared with gasoline engines. In some installations, our diesels are delivering more than TWICE the hours of operation per gallon of fuel.

Faultless performance is the norm, rather than the exception. A choice of 27 premium quality air-cooled Avco-VM's (5 to 670-hp) means there's one that's right for your application.

Modular, unitized construction means fewer specialized parts, lower weight per hp, lower maintenance costs, 70% parts interchangeability — and they'll fit the tightest space.

Farm productivity up despite cropland loss

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Despite a sharp drop in its harvested cropland, Pennsylvania farmers experienced a 175 per cent increase in the market value of farm products sold over a 25-year period computed by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

This is reflected in a comparison of already published data from the five-year farm censuses completed by the Bureau for 1949 and 1974. The review, offering a significant long range perspective of trends in farm methods, products, and income is to be updated with the 21st Census of Agriculture in January 1979.

The market value of Pennsylvania's Farm products soared to $1.5 billion from $546 million in 1949, a 175 per cent gain. Field and nursery crops brought a total of $448 million in 1974, up 232 per cent, while livestock, poultry and their products brought in $1 billion, a 157 per cent gain over 1949. The State was third in the Nation in value of nursery and greenhouse products sold in 1974 ($138 million) with Chester County first among U.S. counties in this category.

The State increase occurred even though the number of farms dropped from 147,000 to 43,000 in 1974, and harvested cropland was reduced from 5.6 million to 3.9 million acres.

Other highlights of the 25 year Pennsyivania agriculture review include the following:

Among all States, it ranked fourth in 1974 in production of apples, and fifth in peaches and grapes, despite a 54 per cent drop in orchard land to 64,000 acres.

It was fourth in clover and timothy hay acreage in 1974. Alfalfa grown for hay rose 87 per cent during the period to 523,000 acres. Corn cut for silage increased 65 per cent to 396,000 acres, and soybeans rose 140 per cent to 53,000 acres.

The State was fifth in dairy production and number of milk cows in 1974. Lancaster County rose to fifth among U.S. counties in dairy products sold with $65.6 million, up from seventh place in 1949 with $15 million in sales.

Between 1954 and 1974, the number of beef cows was up 377 per cent to 192,000 while cattle and calves rose seven per cent to 1,762,000; and broilers increased 109 per cent to 56.5 million.

The propagation of mushrooms under glass nearly doubled to 32 million square feet of growing space.

The farm census, which today provides the only U.S. set of uniform agricultural data at the county level, covers 17 principal items of information ranging from acreage and machinery to fertilizer and fuel storage.

Because of agriculture's importance to the national economy, the census data since 1920 has been compiled and published every five years, for years ending in 4 and 9. Beginning in 1982 the agricultural census will be conducted in years ending in 2 and 7 so as to coincide with the Bureau's economic censuses.

When information from the 1978 census is aligned with the current 25-year review, the result will constitute the most important overview of the character and growth of U.S agriculture since World War II. Report forms for the 1978 census will be distributed to farmers and ranchers in December.

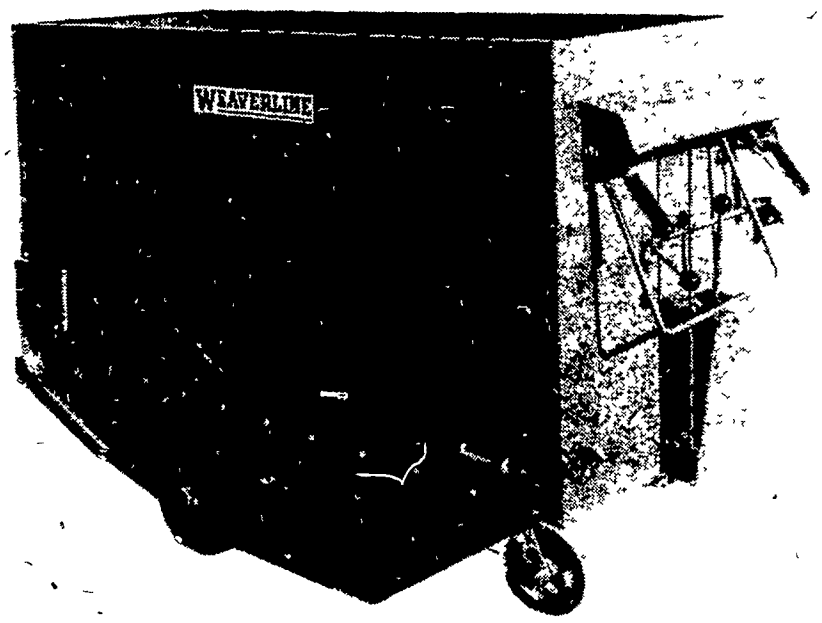
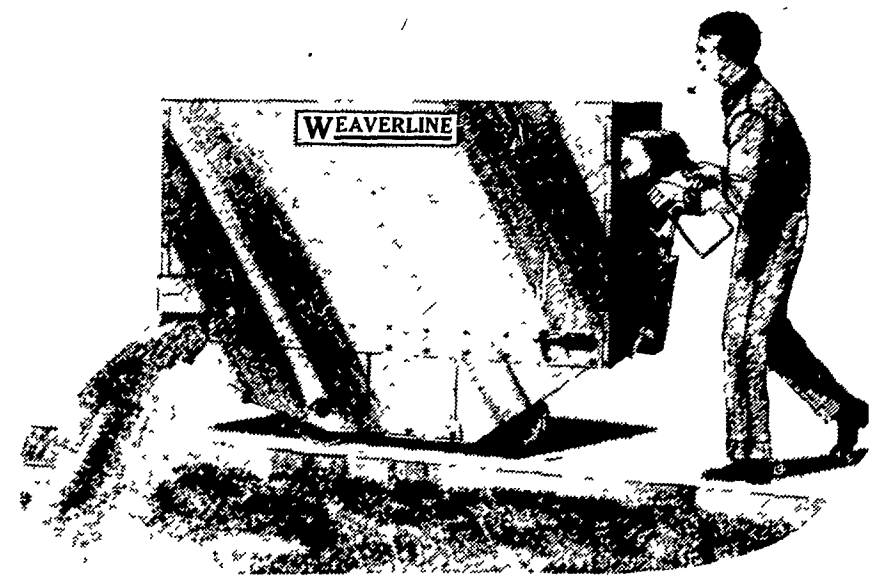
WEAVERLINE BATTERY POWERED CARTS

TWO SIZES: 24 BUSHEL MODEL 223
30 BUSHEL MODEL 224

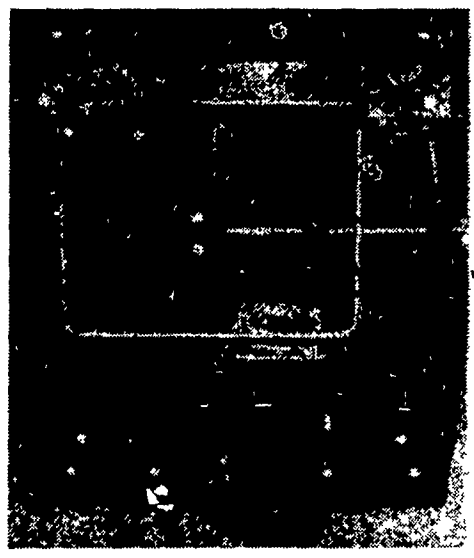




FEED SILAGE EASIER . . . FASTER

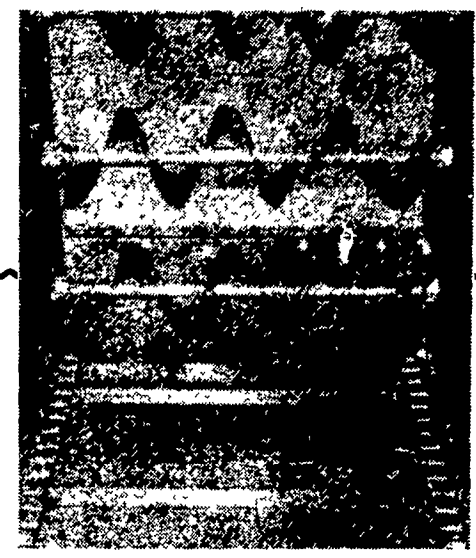
Weaverline's self-propelled self-unloading feed carts save half the time of manual feeding. Choose the big Model 224, 30 bushel cart for big barns. Tight corners? Choose the compact Model 223, 24 bushel cart. Both Models are only 33" wide to fit thru most any doorway. Because Weaverline takes the electric route, you get the job done quietly, without noxious fumes.

Go Weaverline for safety reasons too! Cart stops instantly if operator lets go of traction clutch . . . or if cart bumps against him in reverse travel. Sturdy bumper protects cart from damaging impacts.



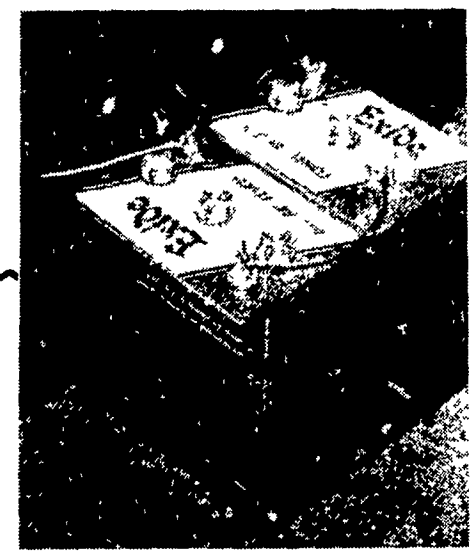
6-speed control for the flow you want

Fingertip control rod at right handle has 8 positions—for starting augers and beaters and for 6 different control speeds. The Cart features high-low shift for both forward and reverse travel. U-Bar is the traction clutch; pull and cart goes, release and it stops. Knob at center activates augers.



Simple, trouble-free feeding action

Three upper augers serve as beaters to keep silage from bridging and assure steady downward movement. Bottom auger is the feeder, forcing silage out to the left and into the manger. Delivery chain and crossbars push the silage forward into the augers.



Easy servicing with roll-out power pack

View shows two of four 6-volt batteries mounted in an easy-access drawer. Slides to the right for servicing batteries shown . . . . then out the opposite side for servicing the other two. A special plug receptacle is located at the base of the control box in rear of cart—right where you want it for convenient recharging of the power pack between feedings.

McDonald gets herdsman award

HARRISBURG -- A Bedford County farmer was presented the Outstanding Herdsman Award at the conclusion of the 1978 Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show held at the Farm Show Complex last week.

Galen McDonald of Green Slopes Farm, Imler, was presented an engraved watch by the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association, sponsor of the award. McDonald exhibited Guernseys at the five-day show

An engraved plaque was presented to the outstanding herdsmen of each of the six breeds represented at the show. Herdsmen of each breed were: Ayrshire, Caverly Brothers of Claverly Brothers Farms, Clinton, Maine; Brown Swiss, George Bassler of Sand Rock Farm, Rocky Ridge, Maryland; Guernsey, McDonald; Holstein, Frank Shaw of Winter Place, Winslow, Maine; Jersey, Mildred Seeds, Top-O-Hill Farm Downingtown, Chester County; and milking Shorthorn, Jim Woodward of Curtwood Farm, Rio, Wisconsin.

Unanounced periodical inspections by personnel of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Foods and Chemistry were made of exhibits of five or more cattle for the awards Scoring was based on the following: cleanliness of stalls and animals, clean aisles and general attractiveness, keeping all equipment sanitary and neat, cooperation with management, practicing good milking habits, and courtesy shown to show visitors.

The awards were presented in the Farm Show's large arena last Friday.

Chester County 4-H'er masters his Ayrshires

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG — Bill Henley is only 13 years old, but he can talk about Ayrshire cows like a seasoned veteran. That may be because even at 13, he has had the show circuit experiences that few people ever receive. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Kennard Henley, Cochranville, Bill has worked with registered Ayrshires since he was old enough to hold a halter. His father, owner of Tower-View Farm, and a herd of Ayrshires which are known by the same name, has had phenomenal success with his Ayrshire show string and a lot of it has rubbed off on his children.

Young Henley credits his father for much of his own knowledge, saying that the elder Henley "covers all the points."

But the 8th grader from Chester County is quick to give credit to the 4-H program as well. He has been a member of the Manor 4-H Dairy Club for five years and has gained valuable and enjoyable experiences through his membership, he noted. "I like 4-H, especially showing and the competition. I would miss 4-H if I weren't a member anymore," he commented during an interview during last week's All-American Dairy Show at the Farm Show Complex.

Henley and other members of his family were among the more successful exhibitors from southeastern Pennsylvania. At the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, for example, Henley won the senior and grand championship with his 4-year old cow named Tower-View Kelly's Heather, a daughter of Oak Ridges Flashy Kellogg. It was the third time the stylish bovine stood as champion here. Henley and his prize-winning cow have also distinguished themselves at numerous other shows, including the Allentown Fair, where the animal was named supreme champion over all breeds.

"Towerview Kelly's Heather", a 4 year old Ayrshire cow owned and shown by William Henley of Cochranville, won grand champion honors at the 1978 Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show held September 25 in Harrisburg. William is a member of the Manor 4-H Dairy Club. All dairy animals shown at the state-wide show were blue ribbon winners in local and district competition earlier this year.

This week, Henley and Heather are in Madison, Wis. to particupate in the World Dairy Exposition.

Bill says he likes Ayrshires for their dairyness, nice type, even milk production, and good test. His champion cow has a record of about 12,000 pounds of milk and 500 pounds of fat, Henley said. "She hasn't been dry since she freshened as a 2-year old," he added.

The young Ayrshire breeder's champion cow is a home-bred animal, a fact which arouses noticeable pride in her owner. In addition to her many championship honors, she was also the grand champion at the national Junior Ayrshire Show in Wisconsin a year ago.

PERFORMANCE

That's What Really Counts

It's a good reason to buy O's Gold hybrid seed corn. You can count on total performance from the best yielding hybrids for your fields.

In the spring, O's Gold hybrids have high germination and seedling vigor. During the summer and fall, they show excellent standability with high resistance to stalk rot. And, good ear retention throughout the growing season makes sure your profits don't end up on the ground. At harvest time, fast drydown lowers your fuel bills for the grain dryer.

Look to your O's Gold dealer when planning this year's corn crop. He's a farmer just like you and he knows his seed corn. Plus, he'll tell you all about the many valuable premiums and exciting 1979 winter cruise that O's Gold has for you.

produce an award-winning cow? Henley answers as follows:

"It's mostly all in the breeding program. The Kellogg bull has been the main factor in our herd. In fact we're getting to the point where we can't use him much anymore because of inbreeding." Continuing, Henley names other bulls rapidly - bulls which he thinks are good and which are being brought into the Tower-View breeding program. He talks as though he is a seasoned Ayrshire breeder, rather than a 13-year old 4-H'er.

district directors with the highest percentage of attendence at their meetings, the first prize was a tie between Lancaster Conservation District and the Bradford Conservation District, with both scoring 95.2 per cent. This was the second year in a row for the Lancaster County group to be named first while the Bradford County group had won the award two years ago. Fulton Conservation District, with an 86.9 per cent record was named in third place.

In the annual report contest, first place again went to Lancaster Conservation District for their annual report of 1977. These reports are judged on the activities that each district thoroughout the state is trying to accomplish.

Second place in the annual report contest went to Jefferson Conservation District, with honorable mention awards given to Dauphin, Cambria, Bradford, Centre, Monroe, Northampton, and Westmoreland CosnervationDistricts.

In the Goodyear awards, the coveted first prize went to Clinton Conservation District, with Lancaster Conservation coming in second. Honor districts in that competition went to Berks, Cambria, Jefferson, Lebanon, Monroe, and Washington Conervation Districts.

Representing the Lancaster County Conservation District are on the left, Amos Funk, Millersville R1; and Aaron Stauffer, chairman, Ephrata R1. The Lancaster Conservation District was recognized for its high attendance at director meetings. They were also named second in the Goodyear awards, and first in the annual report contest. Presenting the award is Walter N. Peechatka, executive secretary of the State Conservation Commission and Bruce Holbrook, field representative of the State Conservation Commission.

The award for the conservation educator of the year was a tie between Carolyn C. Jarin, Bucks County, and Donald A. Burger, Berks County.

Mrs. Jarin, director naturalist of the Peace Valley Nature Center, is devoted to teaching conservation by participation in "Hands-on" outdoor exploring and discovering. She firmly believes that this kind of education is essential to basic understanding of the naturla world and that this uderstanding imparted to youth today makes them the true conservationists of tomorow. This past year over 10,000 people attended the nature center. Environmental education programs have been expanded and numerous other programs were conducted.

Governor Mifflin School District. Under his direction, the school district has instituted a glass, newspaper, and cardboard recycling project at the high school which was begun in 1971. The project has been a continuing success ever since, with the totals of glass and paper reaching 350 tons each up to the present.

Named conservation farmer of the year of Pennsylvania was Kenneth L. Glazier, from Fulton County. Glazier was appointed a director of the Fulton conservation District in 1973 and since then has served as chairman and vice-chairman of the board. He is a dairy farmer with 120 cows and 40 heifers, and presently also crops 451 acres.

His entire operation is planned with conservation practices that include contour strip-cropping, 5,284 feet of diversions and waterways and 1,4000 feet of tile installed on his own and rented cropland. He is currently serving on the state association's land use committee.

Dean Bedford, from Bradford County, was picked conservationist of the year. A director of the Bradford District fromits beginning in 1957, he was elected president of the Pa. Association of Cosnervation District Directors for 1977. He is an active farmer and has been a cooperator for many years.

Conservation farmer of the year was Kenneth L. Glazier, Fulton County, seen on the left. Presenting his award is Lonnie Palmer, the Fulton Conservation District chairman.

Forest conservationist of the year was N. Dean Starner, Bradford County. The operator of the Starner Tree Farm located near Camptown, Starner, a vo-ag teacher at Wyalusing High School, operates 400 acres. Over the past ten years the Starners haave planted over 100,000 trees and shrubs. Timber stand improvement work was done on 70 acres with most of the material removed utilized by the Starners and their neighbors for firewood. Over 200,000 board feet of saw timber has been removed from an addistional 70 acres. Now retired, Starner plans to step up his activities with continual annual havests of saw lumber.

Revealed as watershed person of the year was Darlene E. Confer, from Carbon County, who serves as executive secretary of the Carbon County Recreation Authority and is a member of the Mauch Chunk Watershed that won the National Watershed of the Year award in 1978.

The NACD-Allis Chambers Educator award went to Michael Bernarsky, Neshaminy Langhorne High School, in Bucks County. A biology and environmental education teacher for the past seven years at Neshaminy Langhorne high school, Bernarsky was instrumetnal in the development of the school's successful environmental program and a Penn State Ogantz graduate education course for teachers at the high school. In 1977, he initiated a school community movement to develop an environmental education center at a 125 acre nature area on the Neshaminy campus.

The Monroe Cosnervation District won the NACD Allis Chambers Cosnervation District award for having set a high priority on conservation education. Foremost is the Meesing Nature Center, which is an environmental education facility developed through the district and administered by the district staff. They also conduct a conservation camp, conservation school, an erosion and and sediment control workshop, forestry field day, and several other training sessions

Awards were also given for director service and poster contests.

The conference was held on Monday through Wednesday of this week, with district directors and interested personel gathering to learn more of how to face the problems and attain the goals desired by conservation districts today.

For more information about the conference, turn to the article about one of the speakers found on page 61.

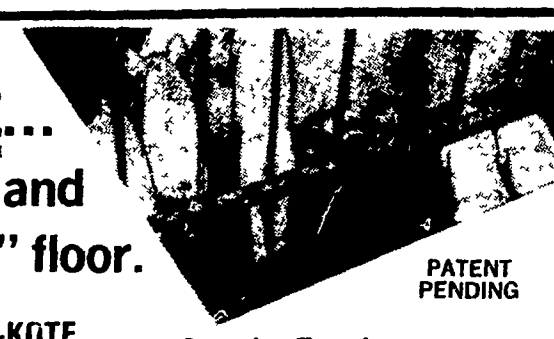
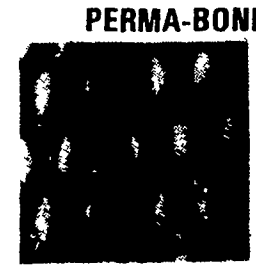
Tenderfoot...™ the Tough, Tested and Proven "pig-saver" floor.



PATENT PENDING

PERMA-BOND* KOMFY-KOTE CONSTRUCTION



A tough acid-resistant plastisol compound permanently bonded to a rugged steel mesh

*An exclusive bonding process developed by Tenderfoot

- Superior Traction prevents injuries and abrasions.
- Cushioned comfort reduces stress.
- Self-cleaning. No holes or crevices to harbor bacteria.

HOW LONG WILL THEY LAST?

First produced in 1975, Tenderfoot was tested in farrowing pens for 1½ years before being marketed These original floors have been in constant use ever since WITH NO APPRECIABLE WEAR! Today's Tenderfoot floors have 6 advantages over the original pieces

1. 3 times more coating.
2. Tougher vinyl coating.
3. Extra-strength steel.
4. Treated to resist bacteria & fungi growth.
5. Improved Perma-Bond processing.
6. Strict quality control.

Constant research development and quality control continues at the Tenderfoot factory and at the nearby 650-sow operation where the original 1975 Tenderfoot floors are still going strong

How long will a Tenderfoot last? No one knows The very first ones produced have withstood heavy use since 1975 with no appreciable wear. The floors produced today are 6 ways better than the first ones On the basis of these facts it seems safe to say that any concern over the durability of Tenderfoot flooring is unnecessary.

'Egg Beaters' on trial

ATLANTA, Ga. — The long battle between the nation's egg producers and Standard Brands has reached United States District Court here. Proceedings opened on Monday. It is the culmination of the litigation brought against the food industry giant by United Egg Producers on behalf of all egg producers.

The suit dates back to October of 1975 when egg producers from all over the country were outraged at attacks being made on their product through allegedly false and misleading advertising of Standard Brands' product "Egg Beaters." The very name implied that the product was superior to nature's own egg. UEP spokesmen said: "while they definitely had us beat in price - about 20 cents per egg equivalent - producers felt the product name and the ads were misleading.

UEP's attorneys have spent three years preparing for the court battle, even turning down an offer for out-of-court settlement because UEP insists that such a compromise settlement would not have answered the central question around the dispute. "The key issue is, and always has been, the modification of advertising, not money," UEP says, emphasizing that they will not compromise on the advertising questions at stake. Standard Brands, however, does not want its hands tied by advertising restrictions.

Some of the "Egg Beater" advertising lines which egg producers object to are:

"...all the taste and nutrition of farm fresh eggs..."

"If you had two eggs this morning, you're already over the daily cholesterol limit recommended by many doctors."

"Many doctors recommend..."

United Egg Producers has conducted numerous fund-raising efforts and expresses deep gratitude to those who have donated time and money to the cause of the legal confrontation with Standard Brands. Contributions are still being accepted and may be mailed to United Egg Producers, 3951 Snapfinger Parkway, Suite 580, Decatur, Ga. 30035, or any of its five regional affiliates. Top Holstein honors go out of state

HARRISBURG - The Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show concluded its five days of events at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg last Friday with the wrap-up of the Holstein judging. The Holstein-Friesian Association of America held their approved Eastern National Show at the All-American this year.

Pinehurst Farms, Sheboygan Falls, Wis. was named premier breeder of the Holstein show. Pinehurst Farms had received numerous honors in two days of judging at the Holstein show, including the grand and senior champion bull.

The show's premier exhibitor was Winter-Place of Winslow, Maine. Select Sire of Plain City, Ohio, exhibited the premier sire, "Round Oak Rag Apple Elevation," a junior get-of-sire.

The grand champion and senior champion female was "Royal-Haven Brett Sherry," a 4-year-old shown by Apache Holsteins of Buhl, Idaho. The reserve grand champion and reserve senior champion female honors went to Hanover Hill Holsteins of Claypool, Indiana, showing "J P G Standout Kandy," of the five year or older class.

In last Thursday's Holstein judging, Pinehurst Farms exhibited the grand and senior champion bull, "Westcrest Granada," from the three years or older class. The reserve grand champion bull title went to "Smith Meade Fire Cracker" a senior yearling bull owned by Smith Meade Farm of Frederick, Md. "Meade" also took the junior champion bull title. "Kingstead Monty," from the three years or older class, captured the reserve senior champion bull honor for Kingstead Farms of Damascus, Maryland.

Linden-Loch Holstein of Oley, Berks County, took the reserve junior champion bull title with "W S L Linden-Loch Astra Mark," a junior yearling bull.

The show's junior champion female honors went to "Pinehurst Lyric," from Pinehurst Farms of Wisconsin. The reserve junior champion female title went to "C Bernadale Argro Bonnie," exhibited by Winter-Place of Winslow, Maine.

Judging the Holstein show was Douglas Maddox of Riverdale, Calif.

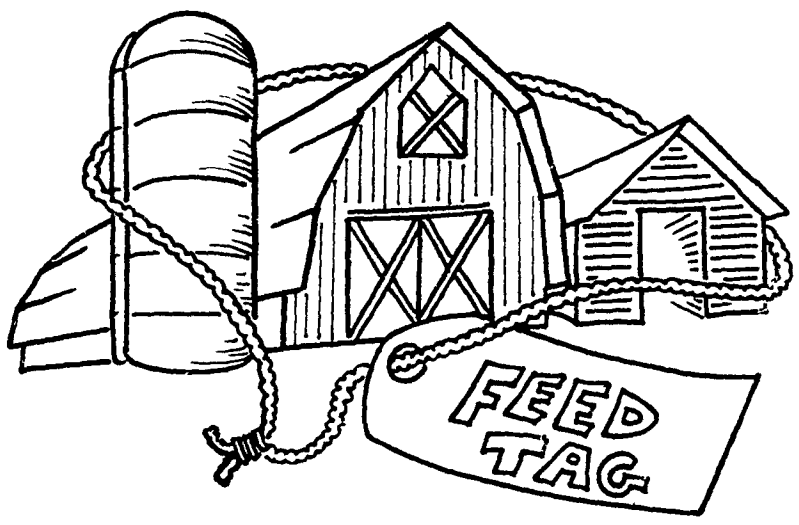
AGRI-KING
KEY TO PROFIT

WHAT IS AGRI–KING?

WHAT MAKES THIS COMPANY DIFFERENT?

This is the second in a series of six articles aimed at answering these and other questions of interest to you, the farmer. The first article is available on request. Call 717-394-3047.



WHAT IS A BALANCED RATION?

Most people in the feed industry talk only about protein when considering a balanced ration. But to AGRI-KING a balanced ration means much more. Yes, balancing protein is important, but calcium, phorphorus, energy, vitamins and trace minerals must also be considered in the right amounts and ratios according to the needs of your breed of cattle and your milk production.

The only way to keep your total feed ration in balance is to periodically test the grain and roughages that are being fed, because these make up 85-90% of what you feed the cow. Only after the nutrient content and the amounts of these roughages being fed are determined, are we ready to start balancing your grain mix according to the needs of your cows. By using standard book value figures for the feeding value of your grains and roughages you have only a one in one thousand chance of having a balanced ration.

The protein, calcium, phosphorus, vitamins, trace minerals and energy are all interrelated in their work. It's a chain in which it takes one to utilize the other, and this chain is only as strong as its weakest link. Thus a well balanced feeding program contains the right amounts of protein (not too much but yet enough), the right amount of minerals (not too much, but yet enough), the right amount of vitamins (not too much, but yet enough), and the right amount of energy (not too much, but yet enough) to reach the high level of production and maintain the cows health we desire.

Strawbridge has champion hogs

John Strawbridge, Stewartstown, exhibited the champion production tested barrow at the Eastern National Livestock Show, October 5.

TIMONIUM, Md. — John Strawbridge, Stewartstown, had all the champions in the Yorkshire and Hampshire breeding classes at the Eastern National Livestock Show here. In the Hampshires, he showed the senior and junior champion, and also had the grand champion.

The same was true for the Yorkshire classes.

He also had the champion and the reserve champion in the carcass classses over all breeds.

The champion carcass hog was 32.2 inches long, with a 5.54 inch loin eye, .97 inch back fat, and 44.53 per cent ham and loin.

The animal was sired by Iron Horse.

The reserve champion was 31.5 inches long, with a 6.13 inch loin and .979 inches back fat, with 44.19 per cent ham and loin.

In the production tested barrow show, Strawbridge had the reserve champion, a Hampshire.

He also showed the reserve champion live pen of three, the champion trio of feeder pigs and the first and third place heavyweights.

The word "nice" comes from the Latin nescius meaning "ignorant."

Mike Martin, East Earl RD1, proved to be the best pig catcher in his class at the eighth annual pig catching contest held at Ephrata Fair October 3.

Pig and Guinea chase results announced

EPHRATA - The pigs were let loose and the chase began in the eighth annual pig catching contest held at the Ephrata Fair October 3.

Grant Wise, 10, Bowmansville was the successful pig catcher in the seven to eleven year old category. Grant, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Wise, received a trophy and sold his captured pig at the hog sale held the following evening. Steve Shuman, 11, was the runner-up in the same division. Steve, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Shuman, Lancaster RD2, received a gift certificate from Cloister Dairies Inc. for his efforts.

In the 12 to 15 year old category, Mike Martin, 15, proved to be the best pig catcher in his class. Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer R. Martin, East Earl RD1, received a trophy and will keep his pig. Rodney Gockley, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gockley, Reinholds RD1, received a gift certificate from Galens Hardware for being the runner-up.

An aggressive group of pig chasers were in the 16 years and older class. Clarence Fittery, 19, was muddy but successful as he took his caught pig back to his Denver RD2 residence. Clarence also received a trophy. Allen Boll, 17, of Lititz, received a gift certificate from Henry Hoover for Agway as his runner-up award. David Eberly, 20, of Lancaster, received a gift certificate from Hollinger's Farm Market. David was a runner-up in this class also.

Another feature of the evening was a Guinea chase open to children seven years and younger.

Dwayne Host, 7, was one of the three successful Guinea catchers of the evening. Dwayne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Horst. Carol Martin, 7, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Martin, East Earl, caught a Guinea along with Debra Hulse, 7 Debra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hulse, Ephrata.

Both contests were conducted by the Ephrata Area Young Farmers' Association as an Ephrata Fair event.

Electric fencer manufacturer gets magazine's recognition

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The world's largest manufacturer of electric fence controllers, has been given special recognition by The Kansas City Business Journal, Outlook, for leadership and advances in specialized electronics.

The Parker-McCrory Mfg. Co., makers of Parmak Products, was the world's first company to introduce electric fence chargers and is also the first to introduce solid-state technology to farm fencing. "A solid-state device called the 'silicon controlled rectifier' delivers a powerful shock that lasts about .0002 of a second, a jolt powerful enough to shock through weeds and charge up to 20 miles of fence without endangering animals," the business magazine reported.

Parmak was also one of the original manufacturers to sell world-wide "wind-powered" electric generating systems for farms in the mid 1930's. These systems used the wind to charge batteries in order to run electric lights and other devices.

For more information about Parmak electric fence chargers, please contact Kenneth D. Turner, general sales manager, Parker McCrory Mfg. Co., 3175 Terrace Street, Kansas City, Mo., 64111.

Greased pig chase held

LAMPETER — As part of the West Lampeter Community Fair, Brian Roth, won the greased pig contest for boys under 12 years of age. The Wheatland Junior High School student competed against 50 other youth to win.

In the 13 to 15 age class, James Stauffer, from the Penn Manor School District, won the contest.

And in the senior divison, the winner was Fred Germer, also of Penn Manor.

Vegetable variety handled at packing company

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

LANCASTER - Ever dream of the hundreds of pumpkin pies which can be made from all those squash laying in the fields waiting to be harvested at this time of year?

At Consumers Packing Company, Plum and Liberty Streets, Lancaster, the dream is a reality as they process 100-120 tons of squash daily into frozen pulp ready to be made into delicious pumpkin pies.

Consumer Packing, which began as an ice company, is in its 75th year, and its largest locally grown products are hubbard and butternut squash which are processed for use in pies. There are over 24 farmers in Lancaster County supplying the squash, with the larger supply area stretching north to Gratz in northern Dauphin county and east to Huntingdon county. The size of the crop ranges from one acre to 120 acres.

Robert K. Bowman, vice president and general manager for Consumers, says that squash is a good cash crop for local farmers, and while some harvesting is done by machine, much of the crop in this county is harvested by hand.

Bowman characterized this year's crop as "super-yielding crops, with record field yields." He said at first the squash appeared to be very small in size, but the weight is heavier than usual, so he added, "It looks like it will be a record yield."

Because of the wet May weather, Bowman said that farmers were about two to three weeks late in planting the crop, so Consumers is running two weeks late with their harvest. However, if there is no heavy frost in the near future, the squash will be in heavy production from now until Thanksgiving.

Another large volume food processed at Consumers is frozen double cut white sweet corn which is packaged for the John F. Cope Company, Inc. This sweet corn comes mainly from Pennsylvania and Maryland, Bowman said.

Because of the sandy soil in Maryland and New Jersey, these two states are the firm's largest supplier of spinach, a product which is processed in large quantities at Consumers. Green and wax beans are frozen there, with the bulk of that crop harvested in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. However, Bowman noted that they contract for beans from Florida to New York State. He added that they like to purchase crops as close to their plant as possible.

Obviously the largest part of Consumer's business is processed during the high yield summer months, but mushrooms are processed there year round. Many of the mushrooms come from neighboring Chester County, but Butler County in western Pennsylvania is also a large mushroom producing area.

Bowman noted that vegetables are all done under contract with individual farmers. "We give the farmers all the assistance we can. We need their product when we contract with them. If the farmer doesn't make money then we're not in good shape." Bowman says they have inspectors in the field for insects, fungus and mold. "We try to make sure we get a good product."

Quality control begins in the field and continues through the whole processing plant. Since the quality of raw products may vary, Bowman explains that the quality will affect just what kind of finished product is processed. For instance, certain spinach may not be suitable for leaf spinach, but it is perfectly acceptab le to be used for chopped spinach.

"We inspect and sort out the bad quality. We have our own quality control staff which monitors the product throughout the plant. The great majority of our product makes Fancy A quality," he states.

Frank Snavely, president of Consumers, adds, "Quality control is a very important part of our operation." Snavely is the third generation of his family in the business.

Federal inspection, of course, plays a big part in the operation of the plant. During the processing season there are delegated state inspectors present, and food and drug inspectors also look over their products.

Bowman points out, "Our products are completely natural, with no additives." Labels for their products, nevertheless, must be approved by the appropriate federal agency in Washington.

Two thirds of Consumers' products are sold through institutional sales, with one third being available in retail outlets. Their label is "Dutch Farms," and they process for other private labels as well.

At the peak of the season, Consumers has about 200 people working for them. Bowman noted, "Everybody's local."

Bowman points out that their products are washed, inspected, blanched, cooled and frozen, in a process "identical" to that of the home freezer. The one difference is that their products are quick frozen in seven minutes by machinery which forces super cold air over the processed food.

One large non-farm aspect of the packing company is its ice business. The company was founded as "Consumers Ice Company," and through the years it provided ice to the community and to Penn Central Railroad whose line runs beside the buildings in downtown Lancaster.

Snavely recalls that ice was sold door to door with men and teams of horses, and fifty cents would buy a 300 pound block of ice. Of course, one problem with manufacturing ice is that it is primarily a Summertime business, so, as was the custom with ice companies, Consumers branched into the coal business. This provided their employees with Winter work as well.

In 1938, the corporation decided to go into the locker business. In those early years, the company would process products for the farmers and store it in the lockers for them. In 1945, the company went into vegetable processing under the guidance of C.L. Snavely who is now chairman of the board. Vegetables then became its mainstay and the use of locker plants slowed down. The coal business was dropped in 1945 as unprofitable.

The picture of the processing plant changed completely, and through the years the company experimented with freezing broccoli, asparagus, carrots, cauliflower, rhubarb, apples, cranberries and, as Snavely says, "A multitude of items not practical."

He added, "We just kept in step with the changing times. Now the vegetable business has outgrown the ice business.

Nevertheless, if you purchase ice at a vending machine or retail store, chances are it was supplied by Consumers. They sell nearly 14 million pounds per year.

There is an additional branch of the company which is marketing items which are current to the times, and that is Eastern Freeze Dried Corporation. Eastern got underway in 1965, when there was no other freeze dried operation in the east. They now market chives, mushrooms, chicken meat and pharmaceutical supplies. Bowman said, "We package mainly for industrial people who use it for ingredients. It would appear that it is a growing business." Some foods are processed for the backpacking crowd, but as Snavely puts it, "It is a very expensive operation."

There is no question that Consumers Packing Company is a growing and integral part of the agricultural community. As Bowman says, "We are definitely growing. Our product lines have expanded and we have more vegetables than ever before. We process 12½ million pounds annually. We are now improving equipment to increase the number of pounds processed daily. We would like to continue to grow but we'd like to grow gradually."

Farm Storage Buildings

In Fall of 1976 Umbaugh introduced a new line of standard machinery storage buildings. The innovations in design, materials and construction methods have made these the best machinery storage buildings available.

These buildings have no frills. When a farmer buys an Umbaugh building, his money is invested in durable materials and sound engineering practices.

Farmers who shop around usually buy from Umbaugh. We invite comparisons of price and quality.

October, during the Sunday through Saturday period that includes Oct. 9. This date is the anniversary of "The Great Chicago Fire" of 1871 which marked the real start of community efforts to prevent fires, instead of concentrating only on putting them out.

This being Fire Prevention Week, Extension agricultural engineers at the University of Maryland, in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture, and the National Safety Council, are providing farmers with the following tips for fire prevention.

Keep your place clean and get rid of unnecessary fire feeders.

Keep your furnace, fireplace and chimneys clean and maintained.

Make sure portable heaters are used away from cumbustibles and placed so they can't tip.

Store flammable liquids in sturdy metal containers. Use them with extreme care.

Teach children to respect fires and to not play with matches.

Watch smoking and matches.

Don't overload electrical circuits. Add new ones if needed.

Protect your family with a sensitive fire alarm system. Systems might also be installed in barns.

Protect your home, shop, buildings, and equipment with proper fire extinguishers. Make sure everyone knows where they are and how to use them.

Develop and practice a home fire drill so that everyone can quickly and safely evacuate the house in case of fire. Please have the fire department's number handy and make sure everyone knows how to call it.

Have a good water supply in case of fire.

"Observed" will continue to be the right word for Fire Prevention Week as long as fires' annual tolls remain at astronomical levels.

In the U.S. alone, 3.1 million fires are reported in a single year. Those fires account for 11,800 deaths per year, and dollar losses of over 4 billion.

The toll of The Great Chicago Fire was monumental in terms of the young frontier city and of the economy of those days: 250 lives lost, 17,430 buildings destroyed, and an estimated $168 million in property lost.

Safety specialists conclude: "When everyone pays attention to 'learn not to burn' then the annual costs of fires - in terms of deaths, injuries, suffering, and dollars – will decrease greatly.

Brown Swiss sold for $43,950

HARRISBURG - The Pennsylvania State Brown Swiss Association conducted its annual invitational sale in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show last week at the Farm Show Complex.

A total of 37 calves and mature females went onto the auction block and grossed $43,950, for an average of $1,187 per head. The first 10 head in the sale averaged $1,800.

The top of the sale was a 5-year-old cow, "Rea-Mor Beautician Rebecca," consigned by Rea-Mor Farms, West Alexander, Pa. Ambassador Farms in Texas paid $3,100 for the animal.

Runner-up honors in the Brown Swiss dollar sweepstakes went to a four-year-old, "Harris Hill Betty D" of Washington Depot, Conn. This animal was bought by Rolf and Barbara Paulson of Port Republic, Va. for $2,575.

The Brown Swiss sale was under the chairmanship of Don Trimble of Peach Bottom. Auctioneering was done by A. Doty Remsburg of Jefferson, Md.

In trials... Seven veal feeding programs were compared... and you've got the winner!

In total gains, rate of gain and conversion rate, one program stood out above all others. That's the one on which Agway Veal Pre-Starter, Starter and Finisher are based.

The group on the winning program started at an initial average weight of 111.1 lbs. And finished at 349.00 lbs. An average gain of 237.9 lbs. With a feed conversion rate of 1.66 pounds of feed per pound of gain.

Agway Veal Pre-Starter, Starter and Finisher are made from top quality products. From top quality protein, 100% derived from milk products. From 100% animal fat. Because Agway knows that protein quality and fat source are where performance is. As the trials showed... quality pays off.

Every veal grower knows that prime veal depends on the quality and vigor of the calves, on proper housing, feeding management and sanitation. Do all of them right, and the line-up of Agway Veal Feeds can do a superior job for you.

Fertilizer and grain affected

Car shortage sparks complaints and research

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The nation's railroads are "woefully incapable" of shipping fertilizer or agricultural foodstuffs to the marketplace, according to the president of The Fertilizer Institute, in remarks last week to a House subcommittee.

Edwin M. Wheeler encouraged favorable action on a bill, before the House Ways and Means Subcommittee on Trade, to temporarily remove duty on hopper cars manufactured and shipped into the U.S. by Mexico. Wheeler said that there are "simply not enough hopper cars, locomotives or serviceable tracks" in the U.S. to keep pace with demand.

The industry association president quoted a recent news release from the Association of American Railroads, which labeled its August backlog of cars (on order and undelivered) as the "highest figure since April 1975." The August backlog was listed as 75,573 cars compared to the April 1975 backlog of 78,860.

Wheeler predicted that fertilizer products, moving to farms for Fall application, will compete with agricultural commodities enroute to domestic and foreign markets. Coal and other nonfood items will also be shipped in massive quantities at the same time, he said.

"The simultaneous movement of these commodities will exacerbate the situation."

Calling on the legislators to recommend passage of the bill, Wheeler said that by allowing Mexican cars to enter duty-free, the U.S. can "hopefully ease the movement of its commerce to the marketplace and fertilizer to the farm for Fall application."

The bill, to suspend duties on Mexican railcars for two years, has been endorsed by the U.S. State Department and the Office of Management and Budget.

Meanwhile, scientists at the USDA research facilities at Beltsville say that a dual purpose boxcar may be one solution to the shortage of hopper cars needed to haul grain.

The shortage is currently running about 46,000 cars per day, according to USDA. This figure represents the number of cars needed over and above those available to fill customers' orders. Although buying more cars would ease the shortage, railroads are reluctant to invest heavily in hopper cars because they can haul bulk cargo such as grain and soybeans one way, but they must make the return trip empty. Since the cars make only about 8 to 10 trips per year, the return on the carriers' investment in the cars is relatively low, says Philip Breakiron of USDA's Science and Education Administration.

A shortage of hopper cars means customers must wait for grain shipments—sometimes for several months—and farmers cannot move stored grain off the farm because elevators are already full. Storing grain over long periods of time reduces the quality of the grain and raises the storage costs. And, farmers cannot choose the best time to sell their grain.

Prototypes of the new dual-purpose boxcars, now being tested, have hauled grain one way and packaged freight such as boxed cereals the other. The prototypes have standard hopper bottoms and full-length roof-loading troughs so that grain can be loaded and unloaded in the conventional manner. They are also equipped with plug-type side doors and a special high-strength steel grid-type, flow-through floor that allows grain to pass into the hoppers.

After grain is unloaded, the cars can be reloaded with packaged or palletized products stacked on the grated flooring. When not needed for hauling grain, these cars can be used year 'round like conventional boxcars.

A study of the new railcars is being conducted under a cooperative agreement between SEA's Transportation and Packaging Research Laboratory at Beltsville, Maryland, and the Milwaukee Railroad. Based on this study, a new, larger, lighter-weight prototype will be designed to further improve the efficiency and reduce the costs of hauling bulk and packaged cargo.

Myers' farm for sale

LANCASTER — The "Black and White Holstein Farm, through which thousands of head of dairy cattle were sold in the past 10 years, will be sold at auction on Oct. 12. The sale comes by order of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Myers, owners. The Louis Traiman Auction Co. will conduct the sale. Myers, who is known to most Holstein dairymen in Pennsylvania, will also be selling a second farm, known as Stony Battery Farm, Landisville. The Landisville farm will go on the block at 1 p.m.; the Black and White Holstein Farm, which is adjacent to Route 283, will be bidded on beginning at 2:30 p.m

WHAT'S NEW

GESTATION STALL

The new "Better-Bilt" gestation stall permits limited feeding of each sow with choice of either lift out or swinging gates, says the manufacturer. Constructed of full one inch steel pipe for long service, replaceable tab feet for fastening to floor, it is adjustable from 22 inches to 24 inches in width with overall dimensions of 40 inches high and 84 inches long.

The stall can be used with individual pan type feeders or built-in concrete trough. Bolt together construction provides ease of handling and installation, says the manufacturer. Complete information is available from The Pearson Bros. Co., Box Z, Galva, Ill. 61434.

Dairy judging forum winners announced

HARRISBURG - A 4-H team from Franklin County and an FFA team from Cloister High School, Ephrata, Lancaster County, won top honors in the fourth annual Pennsylvania 4-H and FFA Dairy Judging Forum held last week at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show in Harrisburg.

The judging was limited to persons belonging to 4-H and Future Farmers of America organizations in the state. Contestants are judged on their evaluations and decisions in making their own judging events. The forum includes a quiz for contestants on dairy herd management.

In the individual judging competition, Jeff Harding of Brookville, Jefferson County, placed first in 4-H judging, while Kevin Smoker of Stevens, Lancaster County, won top FFA honors.

In the 4-H judging, teams from Berks, Crawford, Somerset and Lebanon Counties came in second to fifth, respectively. FFA teams and placings were: Solanco, second; Mansfield, third; Oxford, fourth, and Northern Bedford.

Members of the Franklin County 4-H winners were: Maryanne Johnson, Deborah Cashell, Alan Grider and Kelly Cordell. The Cloister team consisted of Kevin Smoker, Robert Fox, Curtis Martin and Mark Weiler.

Ranking for individual judging in 4-H competition was, first through fifth, respectively: Jeff Harding, Brookville; Maryanne Johnson, Mercersburg, Franklin County; Melanie Alsdorf, Spartansburg, Crawford County; Steve Shaw, Oley, Berks County; and Todd Grice, Washington, Washington County.

Individual winners in the FFA Forum were, first through fifth, respectively; Kevin Smoker, Stevens; Curtis Martin, Ephrata; Alan Mason, Nottingham; Ken Switzer, Elverson, and Randy Heater, Millerton.

The Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Show Commission.

Unique swine facility begun

will be turned over to the University for research in field applications as well as feedstuffs substitutes. The manure will be stored in a Slurrystore from the Penn-Jersey people.

According to Dr. Clifton Baile, who is an associate professor of nutrition in the Department of Clinical Studies of the Veterinary School at the Univeristy of Pennsylvania, the facilities are not designed for research. However, he indicated that research proposals may be forthcoming if they are deemed to be of benefit to all parties involved. While Baile claims credit for the initiation of the project, the monetary resources are coming from eight Lancaster County farmers. An agreement has been reached to purchase 10 acres of land from the New Bolton Center, upon which three buildings will be erected. One will be for breeding and gestation, a second for farrowing purposes, and the third will be a nursery.

The entire operation will be run by two highly qualified and well trained managers. "That's the key to this whole thing," commented John Hess, farmer and feed mill oerator who holds one of the shares in the unique partnership.

Students at the University of Pennsylvania will be given the opportunity to work with the operation for two-week periods in order to increase their knowledge of hog management and medical applications. Thus, the concept is seen as being of possible benefit to hog producers throughout the area since the graduating veterinarians will have had more exposure to pigs than they had previously.

The feeder pigs coming out of the facility will be supplying the original investors at regular intervals in predetermined proportions. The operation will have a capacity of 480 sows producing an estimated 8600 pigs per year. The first gilts and boars are to be in the new facility in February. The Pig Improvement Company, the world's largest supplier of gilts and boars, will supply the breeding stock. The young pigs will be weaned at three weeks of age and leave the premises at eight weeks.

Both Hess, who spoke on behalf of the farmers, and Baile, who is the appointed faculty member to work with the project, are optimistic that the program will work. Hess noted that he and his son, John Hess III, as well as his herdsman, Abe Fisher, have become familiar with similar operations in the Midwest. Baile pointed out that neither of the parties involved are going into the venture blindly. Aside from the information which is on hand from the Midwest, the University has probed into the matter on a local level at Hess' hog farm near Intercourse. Abe Fisher manages the hog business there, known as Jet Age Swine Breeders.

When the facilities at New Bolton Center are in operation, the two managers will work closely with two students at a time for two-week periods. That being the case, the owners are looking for capable managers who will also be able to relate well to students. Baile envisions having the students pick up considerable experience in swine management and handling, including reproduction, feeding, farrowing, and disease control - both preventive and surgical. "The plan has been tested and it has worked very well," he commented.

A corporation, the new facility will be known simply as PPAB Limited. There are ten shares of stock, with six farmers having one each and two others having two shares each. Each share of stock will get half of the feeder pigs every five weeks.

Construction is being handled by Sand Livestock Systems, Inc., of Columbus, Neb.

The agreement between PPAB Limited and the University provides that all of the manure will be handled by the New Bolton Center. The gutters in the barns will be flushed with water that is returned from a separation system, explained Baile. Harvestore and the University are cooperating in research projects involving manure solids which will be stored in the Slurrystore. The objective is to retain all of the nutrient values of the hog manure that comes out of the new facility.

The manure will either be applied to cropland with injector mechanisms or be used to develop ways for feeding the material to both cattle and hogs.

Pennsylvania FFA team wins dairy judging contest

HARRISBURG - Individuals and teams from Pennsylvania, Kentucky and California were first place winners in the Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging contest held last week.

Judging was held in the Farm Show's main exhibition hall with 42 teams competing in 4-H, FFA and Intercollegiate divisions. The 4-H and FFA teams had all previously been declared their home state championship teams.

Pennsylvania's team scored first in FFA all breeds judging with 1485 points, with Virginia coming in second with 1480 and Maryland scoring 1453.

In FFA individual judging for all breeds, Tim Peachey of the Huntingdon School District in Pennsylvania tied first place at 509 points with Alan Knoop of Fletcher, Ohio. Roy Shirk of Lebanon took third place with 501 points.

California Poly State University captured the Intercollegiate trophy scoring 2015 points. The University of Maryland was second with 1994 points, followed by Virginia Tech with 1968 points. In a field of 19 teams, Penn State University scored a total of 1916 points, coming in eleventh place.

The top individual performance in the Intercollegiate division went to Henry Giacomini of Ferndale, California, of the California Poly State University team with 688 points. Eddie Leach of the University of Kentucky placed second with 684 points and Melinda Johnston of Virginia Tech finished third with 681 points.

Kentucky captured the 4-H team trophy this year with 1766 points. Maryland's team, which finished first last year, came in second with 1744 points followed by Ohio with 1719 points. Kentucky scored second in last year's judging. Pennsylvania took ninth place in this year's judging in a field of 14 teams.

In 4-H individual scoring, Mark Miller of the Kentucky team won first place with 613 points. Penni McLean of North Carolina placed second with 596 points and Scott Drown of Ohio took third place with 588 points.

Milking Shorthorn show

Premier breeder banner won by Yoder

HARRISBURG – A Berks County farmer was named premier breeder for the second year in a row in national competition in the 1978 Milking Shorthorn Division at the 15th Annual Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show at the Farm Show Complex.

Samuel G. Yoder of Pinesedge Farms, Shoemakersville, captured the title last week, continuing the Yoder family winning streak.

The show's premier exhibitor was Willard E. Gerner of Weg Acres, Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin. The premier sire honor went to "Lilydal Lucy's Promise 10th," shown by Curtis Breeders of Gary, Ind.

Sandy Rivers Farm of Farmington, Maine, exhibited the senior champion and grand champion bull, a 4-year-old, "Innisfail Promise 63D." Last year "Promise" won the same title and was named senior champion the previous year

The reserve junior champion bull title went to a senior yearling bull, "Voter Hill Prince Bicenten," shown by Halpin Farms.

Sancrest Farms of Billings, Mo. captured the junior champion female title with "Sancrest Verna" and the reserve junior champion female title with "Sancrest Viola."

Sancrest Farms also won the reserve senior champion and reserve grand champion female titles with "Sancrest Unless." Weg Acres captured the senior champion and grand champion female honors with "Raspberrys Lucinda."

The National Milking Shorthorn Show at the All-American was judged by John W. McKitrick of Columbus, Ohio.

Other Pennsylvania Milking Shorthorn breeders who placed in the top five of various classes include:

Three Spring Farm, Newville, first-place bull calf first-place junior heifer calf, first-place senior heifer calf, second-place junior get, first-place 3-4 year old dry cow, and fourth place for best three females class.

Spruce Hill Farm, Sadsburyville, fourth-place bull calf.

Pinesedge Farms of Berks County exhibited the fifth-place senior yearling bull, third and fourth place aged dry cows, second and fifth place aged cows, second best udder, third in best three females, fourth dairy herd, third dam and daughter.

The first place state herd belonged to Wisconsin, followed by Maine and Pennsylvania.

Worms Are Stealing Your Milk

Break the worm cycle with
BAYMIX FROM AGWAY

More than ninety percent of all dairy cows are worm-infested It's true Researchers have found worms in nine out of ten dairy cows inspected. With these odds, chances are your herd has worms (internal parasites)

Worms can cost you money by reducing . . .
- milk production potential
- feed efficiency
- growth of replacement animals

BAYMIX is the "Dollars and Sense" wormer. Here's why:

• There is no milk withdrawal with Baymix so you can worm the whole herd at one time milking cows, dry cows, calves and replacements • Only by worming the whole herd at one time can you effectively break the worm cycle and reduce internal parasitisms on the whole farm • Easy and convenient to feed No handling or restraints to stress animals Just topdress on feed for six days

Let Agway check your herd for worms . . .

• using a fecal test kit, Agway can tell if worms are present in your herd If worms are present, a Baymix worming program can be started now The recommended Baymix program to reduce parasite levels on the whole farm is a worming in the Fall and again in the Spring

Start using Baymix and stop worms from stealing your milk

Make an appointment for a herd fecal survey today Contact your local Agway store.

Genes and parisites effect diseases in plants

UNIVERSITY PARK - A new concept of breeding plants for long-lasting disease resistance by returning both plants and their parasites to more "natural" states is a possiblity, says a research plant pathologist at The Pennsylvania State University.

"Historically, natural populations of plants and their parasites have learned to live together over time," declared Dr. Richard R. Nelson. "Plants and parasites attained their ability to co-exist together by each accumulating a number of genes for their own defense. This developed throughout a long co-evolution. Their mutual safety and survival was due to numbers of genes," he explained.

Dr. Nelson is Evan Pugh Professor of Plant Pathology at Penn State, one of only 11 faculty members currently carrying this Evan Pugh designation for unusually distinguished achievements in research and teaching.

Attempts by modern man to control most plant diseases with single resistance genes have taken many cultivated plant hosts and their parasites out of balance at a catastrophic cost, he observed. As examples he listed the potato late blight responsible for the Irish famine of 1840, and, in more recent years, epidemics of stem rust of wheat.

"Developing plant varieties with single gene resistance, as done widely today, is a feast or famine approach," he contended.

At the heart of the new system being advocated by Nelson and other plant pathologists is a concept sometimes called generalized resistance. With such resistance, a disease increases at a slow rate - producing less losses than otherwise by the end of the growing season.

"This generalized resistance is what plants possess in the 'natural' states," he affirmed. "Plants evolved to that kind of resistance without man's intervention by accumulating genes for both attack and defense. Most plants can endure some level of disease without a major yield loss," he added.

Dr. Nelson and Dr. David R. MacKenzie and their associates are combining a number of resistance genes to determine if this approach can manage diseases to economically acceptable levels and remain effective over a long period of time. The research is sponsored in part by funds from the Rockefeller Foundation. The Penn State scientists believe that use of several genes together should return plants and parasites to balance and would be evident in slow build-up of disease.

The research project being conducted by scientists with the Agricultural Experiment Station at Penn State is to help meet the increased need for world food production.

Eberly shows champion 4H steer

By KENDACE BORRY

NEW HOLLAND — Gerald Eberly, showing a Charolais crossbred, took top honors at the New Holland beef show held this week as part of the New Holland Farmer's Fair.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Eberly, East Earl R1, he is a member of the New Holland 4-H Baby Beef Club. His steer, Snowball, weighed 1080 pounds. This is his seventh year in the club and first champion.

The steer brought $1.05 per pound at the sale held after the show Thursday afternoon, and was purchased by H.D. Matz, Ephrata; represented by Wayne Weidman.

The reserve champion at the show was a purebred Hereford steer weighing 1050 pounds, shown by Kathy Martin, 17. Her steer Sebastian weighed 1050 pounds and was the second reserve champion shown by the eight year member of the club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin and Lancaster County's Poultry Queen.

Her animal was sold for 84 cents per pound and bought by Weaver Martin Trucking.

The Angus champion was shown by Emily Weaver, a first year member of the New Holland Club and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Roy Weaver, Ephrata R1.

Judge fpr the show was Henry Gruber, buyer for Arbergast and Bastion Packing Co. in Allentown.

There were 23 animals entered in the show, all shown by members of the New Holland 4-H Baby Beef Club. They averaged 1018 pounds and bringing an average of close to 70 cents per pound under the auctioneer's gavel.

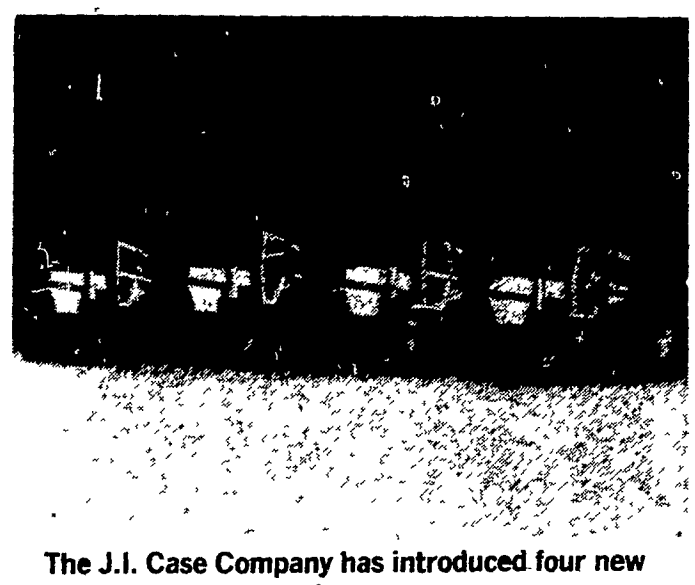
Case introduces four new tractors

RACINE, Wis. — The J.I. Case Company, headquartered here, recently introduced a "new generation" of powerful farm tractors, the Case 90 Series, with features designed for operator comfort and convenience which the manufacturer says are one-of-a-kind.

The four new 2-wheel drive tractors with PTO horsepower ratings of 108, 128, 160 and 180 represent an approach to modern tractor design and construction for the next decade, Case spokesmen say. The machines are quiet, convenient, efficient, and help the farmer accomplish his basic goal: to utilize more productive hours every day and work more acres in each productive hour.

New innovations for the "Case Nineties" include: a "Silent Guardian" cab; a newly engineered hydraulic system; a new 8-speed synchromesh transmission on Models 2090 and 2290, or an optional "Power Shift" transmission (standard on 2390 and 2590 Models); an easily removed hood for easy servicing of the engine; easy ground-level servicing of major tractor components such as pumps, valves, draft control system, pto, transmission, batteries (in swing-out case), air filters, etc.



The J.I. Case Company has introduced four new tractors with many new features.

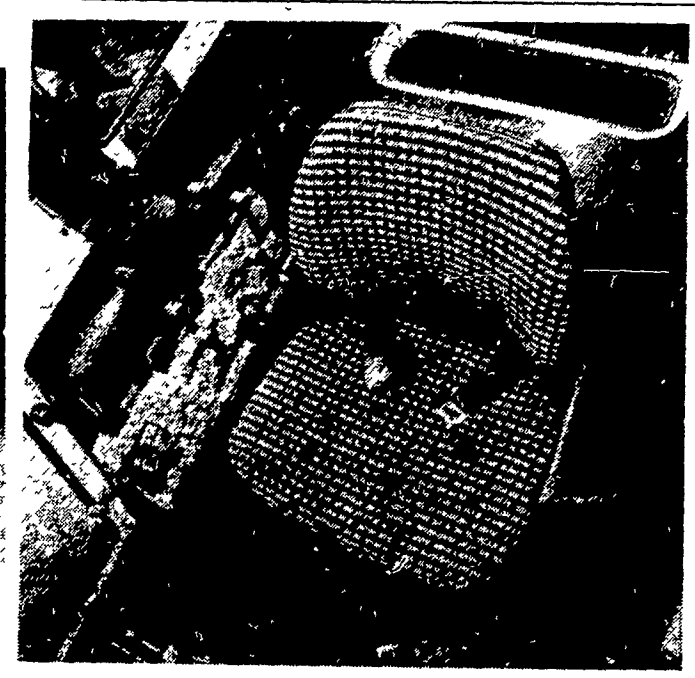
Additionally, each of the four new tractors has a 504 cubic inch engine, which is turbocharged in the three largest models and offers a heavy-duty crankshaft, massive block, self-cleaning air induction system, constant pressure oil lubricating system, and strength and precision in every component.

The new "Silent Guard" cab is of the four-post roll-protective kind, offering ample room and quiet surroundings. It has a new T-bar steering and control console, improved dust and sound insulation, plus all the options for comfort and practicality that a farmer might want – from coat hook to stereophonic music.

A choice of two newly designed seats is being offerd by Case, one of which is known as "The President's Chair." It is adjustable eight ways, swivels, has two folding arm rests, and is covered with 100 per cent nylon transportation cloth that is tear-resistant.

Transmission controls, hydraulics, clutch, brake and the Case Diff-Loc are activated at the tip of a toe or finger. A new solid-state instrument cluster with flashing condition indicators clearly tells what might need attention. The driver sits ahead of, not over, the rear axle for greater comfort.

The Case dealer in your area can show and tell you more. See Lancaster Farming's advertisements for the name of a dealer near you.



The new cab on the Series 90 Case tractors offers convenience and comforts.

Illinois life sampled on 4-H exchange trip

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

"I have always been enthusiastic about exchange programs. There is so much to get acquainted with and there is a world of difference among areas of this country," says Mrs. Harold Fry, Stevens R1, as she discusses her feelings about her 4-H club's exchange trip which took place this past Summer.

Exchange trips are not new to Lancaster County, but the trip arranged by the Brickerville Community 4-H Club is unique in that it was planned and carried out by one club, and not on a county-wide basis as other exchange trips are.

Furthermore, this trip, which took club members to Kendall County, Illinois, represents just one phase in an exchange program with that county which dates back to 1958 when 4-H'ers first traveled here. Kendall County, Illinois, represents just one phase in an exchange program with that county which dates back to 1958 when 4-H'ers first traveled here. Kendall County is located 43 miles southwest of Chicago, and according to Mrs. Fry, leader for the Brickerville Club, that county "has a meritorious record of exchanges." Each year, she explained, the county engages in two exchange trips - one involving travel to another county and another where they host incoming exchange 4-H'ers.

On August 7, a group of nine 4-H'ers and seven adults traveled by Amtrak train to Chicago where they were picked up by their hosts. Four of the 4'H'ers discussed the trip recently, and all were enthusiastic.

Anne Willworth, Ephrata, president of the club, admitted to being a little apprehensive about making the trip and staying with host families, but she said it was an interesting experience.

Anne was hosted by a farm family which raised pigs, cows and chickens. "There were eight children in the family," Anne said, "It was like one great big slumber party. It was fun, and good to learn about other people. Basically they are the same."

While there were many visits to local historical sites and a one-day trip to Chicago, the local 4-H'ers did get in on a little work in their host homes. Anne had the experiences of helping to slaughter 30 chickens. She said her job was to help clean out the gizzards, adding, "I didn't eat chicken for two weeks after we did that."

Dwight Graybill, Stevens R1, was one of two boys to make the trip. He lived with an electrician, with six children. He said, "It was fun to see what the people in Illinois do." Dwight's mother, Mary Jane (Mrs. Donald) Graybill, was a hostess to the first group which came to Lancaster County, and participated as a guest on the first exchange trip there.

Sharon Steffy, Ephrata, lived in town with a family which managed a grocery store. Sharon said the Illinois hosts "thought we talked funny." But she and Anne agreed that people there had a midwest accent totally different from here.

Mrs. Haskell Royer, Stevens R1, served as a chaperone for the trip and was the mother of one of the 4-H'ers who made the trip. She said, "I think it's a shame they don't do more of these exchange trips." She too was apprehensive, but said her experience in Illinois was a happy one. She lived on a 1200 acre hog farm, where their main crops were soybeans and corn. Mrs. Royer said, "They were terrific. I hosted my host family's daughter here last year. I really enjoyed living on a farm.

James Bollinger, Stevens R1, lived in town and made the discovery that what goes on in his Lancaster County home is universal - brothers and sisters fight everywhere. "That made me feel good," he said. He mentioned that his host brothers "did a lot of working on engines and fixing up cars."

The landscape in Illinois was much flatter than here, and Jim remarked that the 4-H'er he hosted last Summer talked about the "mountains" near his Stevens farm. He said he felt the exchange trip was "worthwhile."

One of the reasons for the successful exchange program is an eighty-year-old man named Charles Lett, a veteran 4-H leader who plans and works closely with the exchange. Although suffering from a physical handicap, Lett is not slowed, and shows great enthusiasm for showing visitors a good time.

Mrs. Fry notes that she has been out to Kendall county on three exchange trips and several times went as a private guest. "They are like family, and they take a personal interest in us."

The trip to Chciago was fascinating for the local youth. They visited the Mercantile Exchange, where they witnessed gold and "pig bellies" being sold. They also traveled to the top of the Sears Building, but could not enjoy the five mile visibility because of smog. There was a boat ride on Lake Michigan and a visit to the Museum of Science and Industry. Perhaps the crowning touch to their Chicago visit was having lunch at an exclusive MacDonald's in the Water Tower Place shopping mall. Anne said, "It was really neat, but more expensive than MacDonald's here."

An unexpected twist for the local youth came when they were warned by their hosts not to go anywhere in Chicago unaccompanied, including into the lavatories. "They were very adamant about it," Dorothy Fry said. "We were also told not to talk to strangers." Because of the forcefulness of the warning, Mrs. Fry said she felt the 4-H'ers were intimidated. However, no incidents occurred to make their visit anything short of a wonderful time.

Most members of the group agreed that the time there was not enough. Anne said, "We should have had more time." Sharon remarked, "Chicago was a lot bigger than I thought it would be. What we saw was interesting." Mrs. Royer said she found the people in Chicago to be a "lot dressier than I expected.

Mrs. Fry allowed as how life is "simpler" among the people visited. "They're not involved in as many activities. Our 4-H is more urbanized than there." Mrs. Royer also commented on "the very simple way of living," something she found attractive.

Sharon Steffy and Anne Willworth are eager to talk over some of the experiences they shared this summer on their trip to Illinois.

Dwight Graybill, left, and Jim Bollinger, take the time to locate their host families on the map.

The 4-H Clubs are organized somewhat differently, with community clubs being the dominant type of club. In the club, individual projects are carried out, but much of the work is done individually and not in project clubs. Mrs. Fry said, "They treat the younger ones different than the older ones. A leader visits them in their homes. The kids there are a little more independent." Anne said, "I think their 4-H is more organized. They had an Almost Anything Goes program."

Children bring their finished product to their 4-H Fair where it is judged. Dorothy added, "The judging is very rigid, and the competition is very stiff. All the people must accomplish something. Competition is very keen."

For those traveling on an exchange program from that county there is a selection process, and in most cases 4-H'ers are allowed only two exchange trips in their 4-H career. The bank in Plano, the largest town in the county, helps subsidize the exchange trips, according to Mrs. Fry, and 4-H'ers earn other money to meet necessary expenses. "They feel that if you have to pay you appreciate it more." Participants must be at least 15 years old to participate in the trips.

Mrs. Royer said one of the real advantages of the trip is that the local 4-H'ers got to know each other and the adults who went along much better. And the train ride, which was a first for most, offered an interesting experience. Amtrak officials were very courteous to the group and assisted them in finding proper accommodations.

Very enthusiastic about a local club having a 4-H exchange, Mrs. Fry said, "It keeps the people in one small area, and allows exchangees and hosts to get to know one another better."

This is the sixth formal exchange between the counties in their 20 years, and Mrs. Fry has accompanied the three that went to Illinois. She noted that 4-H groups traveling west have frequently stayed with Kendall - County families.

In addition to those interviewed, others who traveled to Illinois were: Jean Hollinger, Stevens R1; Louise Martin, Stevens R1; Sue Eshleman, Brickerville; Jodi Wenger, Ephrata; Jane Royer, Stevens R1; Mrs. Vera Palm, and Ethel Purdue, Ephrata; Hilda Sipes, York; Mary Clark, Lititz and Harold Fry, Stevens R1.

When asked if they would consider going again, the youngsters were unanimous in saying they are ready to go. The train ride, the trip to Chicago and the family visits added up to an exciting adventure for the 16 who made the trip.

Three of the happy adults who accompanied the 4-H trip to Illinois were Mrs. Haskell Royer, Harold Fry, and Mrs. Harold Fry.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

Kendy's Kollumn

by Kendace Borry

Because he had eaten every possible scrap of grass that could be found in his own pasture, I asked if I could temporarily put Dollar, that faithful four legged hayburner, into a neighboring pasture temporarily. There he would have plenty to eat and while he wouldn't get any grain, I thought he would survive on the lush grass available.

Because the pasture is so big and a lot of my time recently has been spent running around at local fairs, I would only catch glimpses of Dollar in the distance every day I would check him. But I could always tell he was all right because his head would be down, and he'd be chomping away. As long as Dollar is eating, one does not have to worry about him.

But last Saturday, I decided it was time for a closer look, so off I trundled down through the pasture, past the pond, and through the briars. No sign of Dollar. On I tramped over the hill, passing the big tree, and jumping over the ditch. Still no sign of that big sorrel beast.

So then it was back up to the other end of the L-shaped enclosed field, splashing through the creek, and dodging low hanging branches. By this time my jeans were covered with briars and burrs, and I wondered whether that horse really needed checking at all. (In my heart, I was sure he was hiding in the bushes somewhere, watching me thrash around the weeds, calling him.)

No sign of Dollar. Somehow the day did not seem quite as fresh or beautiful as I turned and headed back down towards the other fenceline. And the pasture seemed bigger by far.

"All right, you sneaky mule," I called out ten minutes later. "I see you hiding in those trees. Come out here right now before I come and get you."

Slowly and reluctantly, Dollar moved from his hiding place, head low and feet shuffling. Caught in the act of trying to blend in with the scenery, he looked as guilty as the time I found him in the corn crib at home.

But as he walked towards me, it was my mouth that opened in disbelief and shock.

This red-colored overgrown mountain couldn't be Dollar, my show horse. This wasn't my sleek-sided, slightly-prone-to-eating-too-much steed, that was so dear to my heart. This, why, this thing...

There's no other way to put it-Dollar was the fattest horse I've ever seen standing on four legs.

That is why he has now been yanked out of his heavenly pasture and put on a strict diet with plenty of exercise added in the bargain. And although he doesn't like the arrangement much, he better get used to it. I don't like owning an overgrown sorrel creampuff. Somewhere underneath that haybelly there is a Dollar waiting to be found.

Fall clean-up helps eliminate stalk borer

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - A thorough garden clean-up this Fall can save your flowers and vegetables from insect problems next Summer, says Robert Schutzki of the New Jersey Cooperative Extension Service.

The iris borer, for example, is one of the most destructive insect pests of iris. Females lay their eggs on old iris leaves and other plant material in the Fall. These eggs spend the Winter on iris leaves and hatch in April or May.

The iris borer has only a single brood each year, so cutting the iris leaves and other garden refuse during the Fall may save iris plants from serious damage next Summer.

Another insect which can attack many vegetables and flowers in the home garden is the common stalk borer. In the late Summer and Fall, female moths lay their eggs on grass, weeds and plant refuse.

A single female moth may lay up to 2,000 eggs, each of which will hatch into a borer the following Spring.

A Fall clean-up of weeds and garden refuse will aid considerably in lessening the number of stalk borers present in the garden next Spring.

Prevent Bruising

Use a sharp knife when cutting vegetables to prevent bruising Bruising leads to a loss of Vitamin C which should be retained in vegetables Nutrients can also be easily lost during rapid boiling as the cut surfaces of vegetables agitate against each other Reduce heat after vegetables begin to boil

Junior Cooking Edition

Soups, salads, sandwich spreads and catsup are all featured this week as garden clean-up recipes sent in by our junior readers.

Frito Misto is a fun mystery dish which you can use any type of garden vegetable, chopped up and deep fried in a special batter. Gazpacho, a chilled Spanish soup, is very refreshing on a warm day, and also an excellent way to utilize your garden leftovers. Corn relish and pickled cantelopes are recipes you can make now, and enjoy throughout the Winter months.

Next week is the last week for garden clean-up recipes. The following two weeks will feature your favorite party nibblers, punches and candy for a sweet but spooky Halloween. These recipes should be sent by October 16.

Some of the recipes have not been in Junior Cooking Edition because they were incomplete, missing temperatures, cooking length, or instructions. Please remember to include all of these along with your age, name and address when sending your recipes to Lancaster Farming, Junior Cooking Edition, Box 366, Lititz, Pa. 17543.

Happy cooking!

FRITTO MISTO

Garden vegetable, your choice

Batter

1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons oil
1 cup lukewarm water
2 egg whites, beaten stiff
Fat for deep frying

Any combination of vegetable can be used in this recipe. Green beans, mushrooms, cauliflower flowerets, sliced eggplant, sliced zucchini, etc. Cut everything in bite-size pieces. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. To make batter: sift the flour and salt into a bowl. Stir in the oil, and gradually mix in the water until creamy and smooth. Set aside for 2 hours. Just before using fold in the egg whites. Dip the pieces of vegetable in the batter. Fry in deep 375 degree F. fat until browned. Drain and heap on a serving dish. Sprinkle with parsley, garnish with lemon wedges. Batter will make eight portions.

COLE SLAW

1 cup white vinegar
½ cup water
2 cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon mustard seed
1 head cabbage
1½ cups chopped celery
½ cup green peppers
¼ cup chopped carrots

Combine vinegar, water, sugar, celery and mustard in saucepan. Boil one minute. Cool. Shred cabbage. Squeeze out excess liquid. Add celery, green peppers, and carrots. Pour dressing over cabbage and mix well. Put in freezer boxes and freeze or refrigerate until serving.

SANDWICH SPREAD

3 to 4 quarts tomatoes
1 quart onions
12 large peppers
2 large stalks celery
1 cup salt
1 quart vinegar
1½ quarts granulated sugar
1 quart mayonnaise
½ small jar mustard

Grind tomatoes, onions, peppers and celery. Add one cup of salt. Drain overnight in a cloth bag. Press remaining juice out in the morning. Add vinegar and sugar. Boil 25 to 30 minutes. When cold add mayonnaise (more if desired) and mustard.

Barbara Hastetler
Age 14
Turbotville, Pa.

CATSUP

1 peck tomatoes
3 large onions
4 cups granulated sugar
3 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 pint vinegar

Boil tomatoes and onions whole till soft. Drain in a bag for two hours. After draining, run through a sieve. Throw juice away. Add the remaining ingredients. Boil 10 minutes. Bottle then seal.

GAZPACHO

2 medium cucumbers, peeled, chopped
1¼ pound tomatoes, peeled, diced
1 large onion, chopped
2 small green sweet peppers, diced
½ cup wine vinegar
4 cups cold water
2 garlic cloves, minced
salt
2 cups bread crumbs
4 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon tomatoe puree

Combine tomatoes, cucumbers, onions, and peppers in large bowl. Add vinegar, water, garlic and salt. Stir well. Reserve two cups of this mixture to use as a garnish. Pour the remainder into a blender and process at high speed for one minute or until you have a smooth puree. Pour puree into a bowl. Add the olive oil and tomatoe puree, stirring vigorously. Stir in bread crumbs. Cover bowl tightly with foil and refrigerate at least one hour. Gently stir the soup before serving to restore the original consistancy. Pour in a tureen or individual bowls. Garnish with the reserved vegetables.

CORN RELISH

6 pints sweet corn
4 colored sweet peppers
3 onions, medium
1 bunch celery
1 pound granulated sugar
1 pint vinegar
2 tablespoons salt
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 pint water

Boil all ingredients until soft. Put in jars and seal.

Control Gladiolus Thrips

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - Thrips can do some sad things to gladiolus. Fortunately, you can do something to control these nasty little pests, says Robert E. Schutzki of the New Jersey Cooperative Extension Service.

The first signs of the presence of thrips is a silvery appearance on the foliage due to the many small areas where the plant cells have been damaged. Later the leaves become brown and finally die.

Flowers become deformed and have whitish flecks or streaks and, in some cases, the spikes may not open.

In storage, corms infested with thrips become sticky, corky, and russeted. When infested corms are planted the following year, they may not germinate and those that do germinate will produce poor or no flowers.

As to what to do about it, Mr. Schutzki suggests this:

The most important thing is to avoid planting infested corms. Therefore, after harvesting and curing the corms in the Fall, place them in a wooden box with a tight lid. Add naphthalene flakes at the rate of one ounce per 100 corms. After three weeks, or at a temperature of 70 degrees F after 10 days, remove the excess naphthalene and air the bulbs before storage.

Thrips can also be destroyed by submerging the corms in a hot water bath between 112 and 120 degrees F for 20 to 30 minutes. Dry the corms and store them at a temperature of 40 degrees F until planting time, he said.

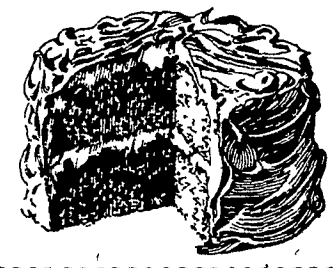
Home on the Range



The end of the garden is drawing near

As Autumn is felt more and more, and the days grow shorter, while the nights become more nippy, it is time to think about getting those last tasty vegetables from the garden. This week's Home on the Range offers recipes which will give you different ideas about how to utilize the season's crop.

Don't forget to check the recipe theme calendar and send your contributions to Home on the Range. This week we added the theme of Stuffings, as we move into November, which is the month that we will be featuring ideas to make a more delicious Thanksgiving.

Send your recipes to Home on the Range, Lancaster Farming, Box 366, Lititz, Pa. 17543.

MEATBALLS AND ZUCCHINI

1 pound hamburger
1 egg
½ cup uncooked oats
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 can mushroom soup
5 young zucchinis (about 2½ pounds)
½ teaspoon basil

Combine meat, egg, oats, salt and pepper. Shape into small balls. Brown balls over low heat. Pour off fat. Add soup. Scrub zucchini well and cut anto ½ inch chunks. Add with basil to meat mixture. Cover and cook over low heat 25 minutes. Zucchini should seem tender, but not mushy. Serves six.

INDIA RELISH

5 quarts green tomatoes, chopped fine
1 pint onions, chopped fine
6 peppers, chopped fine
½ cup salt
3¼ pound granulated sugar
1 quart vinegar
1½ tablespoon mustard seed
2 tablespoons celery seed
1 tablespoon tumeric

Chop tomatoes, onions, and peppers, and add salt. Let stand several hours or overnight. Drain through colander, then add remaining ingredients. Boil for about ½ hour, then can.

CHICKEN WITH FRESH VEGETABLES

4 broiler-fryer chicken breast quarters
3 tablespoons butter
3 large zucchini squash
3 large fresh tomatoes
1 cup chopped green onions
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

In a large frying pan, melt butter over medium-high heat. Add chicken and brown on all sides for about 30 minutes. Slice zucchini length-wise and cut in one inch pieces, cut tomatoes into one inch chunks. Stir in green onions, zucchini and tomatoes. Reduce heat to low, add lemon juice, salt and pepper. Cook uncovered for about 20 minutes or until chicken can be easily pierced with a fork. Makes four servings.

EGGPLANT CASSEROLE

1 tablespoon margarine
1 medium onion, chopped
1 green pepper, seeded and chopped
1 large or 2 small eggplants, peeled and cubed

Chicken combines with seasonal fruits and vegetables to produce colorful, refreshing and a highly nutritious meal. Seen in the Home on the Range this week is chicken with fresh vegetables, along with several other tempting ideas for using those last garden entrees.

1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 can tomato sauce (six ounces)
¾ cup water
12 ounce can corned beef
1 cup grated cheese or cheese food

Using a large skillet or heavy pan, melt margarine. Add onion and green pepper, cooking slightly. Add eggplant, salt, pepper, tomato sauce, and water. Cover and cook five minutes. Mix in corned beef, broken into pieces. Put mixture in a greased caserole. Top with cheese. Bake uncovered in 350 Degree F. oven for 20 to 30 minutes until eggplant seems tender.

CUCUMBER RELISH

12 large cucumbers
3 onions
3 peppers
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup vinegar
3 stalks celery

Grind the cucumbers, onions, peppers, and celery. Add other ingredients and boil for ten minutes. Put in hot, sterilized jars.

RED BEET RELISH

1 dishpan red beets, diced and cooked
3 large onions
1 stalk celery
6 peppers
3 cups granulated sugar
2 cups vinegar
1 cup water
salt to taste

Mix ingredients, then place in hot sterilized jars. Boil in hot water bath for 20 minutes.

CORN SALAD

1 dozen ears of corn
1 quart celery
1 quart lima beans
4 onions
4 green peppers
2 red peppers
3 cups granulated sugar
1 pint diluted vinegar
1 tablespoon salt

Grate corn from ears. Mix ingredients, slicing and dicing vegetables. Put in hot, sterilized jars. Boil for 20 minutes in a hot water bath.

Mrs. Charles Biehl

NOODLES AND CABBAGE

2 sticks butter
1 bag bow-tie noodles
1 head cabbage
1 onion
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon black pepper

Grate cabbage and onion. Melt one stick butter, add cabbage, onion, salt and pepper. Fry until soft and light brown. Boil noodles, add above ingredients to noodles. Also add last stick of butter. Mix well and serve.

ZUCCHINI SOUP

4 cups water
4 chicken wings
7 meatballs, made as you like them
½ cup celery, chopped fine
1 small onion, diced
1 tablespoon fresh parsley
½ cup carrots, sliced
1 can tomato sauce
1 small zucchini, sliced fine
¾ cup peas
¾ cup spaghetti broke in small pieces
salt and pepper

Simmer water, chicken wings, and meatballs for ½ hour. Then remove wings, discard bones and fat and add meat to broth. Add celery chopped fine, small diced onion, fresh parsley, sliced carrots, can of tomato sauce, zucchini sliced fine, the ¾ cup of peas, and the ¾ cup of spaghetti broke into small pieces. Simmer together until vegetables are soft. Add the salt and pepper to your liking.

Serve i n bowls and sprinkle with oregano and romano cheese before serving.

Pa. National Horse Show to feature top riders

HARRISBURG - With every leading rider in the country from teenagers to a grandfather on hand, the 33rd renewal of the Pennsylvania National Horse Show gets under way October 14 with $50,000 in prize money up for grabs.

The show will run for eight days at the Farm Show Arena, in Harrisburg, with matinee and evening sessions scheduled daily. The event will be for the benefit of the Harrisburg Kiwanis Club's Youth Foundation.

In addition to the competitive events, this year's added attraction will be Mr. Rythm, the internationally famous dancing horse. With his rider, Darrel Wallen, Mr. Rythm - reputedly the only horse in the world capable of cantering backwards - will appear during the evening performance from Wednesday through the final Saturday.

While the open jumpers hold the spotlight, two junior competitions will determine some of the leading riders of the future. They are the Medal Class National Finals and the Prix des States event for junior jumpers.

"Looking over the entry list, I came to the conclusion that this show will be among the best in our history," said Jack Sterling, manager of the Pennsylvania National. "The open jumper division, for example, is wide open and I wouldn't even want to hazard a guess as to the winner.

"In the hunter divisions we have the top horses in the nation on hand. As for the Prix des States event, the teams that were defeated by an outsider last year will be back looking for revenge."

Among the open jumper riders, Katie Monahan of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., who rode The Jones Boy to the championship last year, will head the field.

This time, the 23-year-old Miss Monahan will be up on Panetheon, owned by Mrs. David Clark of Iron Station, N.C., who won a major class at the Devon Horse Show last Spring. Miss Monahan's most serious rival probably will be Harry deLeyer, a 51-year-old grandfather, who will handle his own mount, Dutch Crown.

DeLeyer, whose eight children all compete at horse shows, rode Dutch Crown to second place in the American Gold Cup a month ago in Philadelphia. Dutch Crown was the reserve open jumper champion at the Pennsylvania National last year.

Other threats for the title include Norman Dello Joio's Allegro, Mark Jungherr's Just Plain Wilbur, Mrs. Clark's The Roofer, Betsie Bolger's Y Hugo, and Dana Douglass's Heat Wave.

In the national finals of the Medal Class, the event that determines the number one junior rider in the country, more than a hundred entries will compete. In order to qualify for the finals, a junior rider - who must be under 18 years of age - is required to win a designated number of Medal Class qualifying events during the regular season. The number of blue ribbons required depends on the state in which the rider lives.

The favorite for the championship probably will be Hugh Mutch of Weston, Conn., who barely lost to Elizabeth Sheehan last year. Miss Sheehan is no longer eligible for junior competition, and this season also marks Mutch's last year as a junior. His father, Ronnie, won the Medal Finals in 1950, and his uncle, Fred Bauer, captured the event in 1969.

Mutch also will compete with the Connecticut team in the Prix des States - an olympic-style junior jumping competition. Last year's winner, Texas, coached by Orlando de Hoyos, will be back to defend its title, and Connecticut is regarded as its chief threat.

Texas won in an upset last year, but none of the riders on that team will be back. This time, de Hoyos, will have Terry Brown, Christine Blanks, and Shannon Crystal riding for him. Mutch's teammates on the Connecticut squad include Elizabeth Guerin, Leslie Milner, and Siri Larssen Rumaniello.

Pennsylvania, coached by Jim Paxon, also will have a team in the competition. The squad will be made up of Vallery Marvel, Creed Sadler, and Eric Frost.

Among the hunters, Early Light, owned by Mrs. Sylvester Johnson, heads the field. Early Light, winner of the green conformation hunter title at the Pennsylvania National last year, has not been beaten since and now has won 16 championships in a row.

In the regular conformation hunter division, August A. Busch, Jr.'s Stocking Stuffer is the favorite. Mrs. Johnson's Fun and Games is the leading entry in the second year green working hunter division, and Lilli Milins's Stretchin' Stephen is the first year green working hunter favorite Mrs Robert Baskowitz's Ruxton, last year's American Horse Shows Association national high point champion in the division, heads the list of regular working hunters

Mrs. Alan R Robson of Glenmoore, Pa., has entered a string of top horses in the saddle horse divisions. Her leading entry is Lisa My Love, the winner of the ladies' three-gaited world championship at Louisville, Ky , two months ago Mrs Robson, herself, drove Lisa My Love to the title

The Pennsylvania National Horse Show, a non-profit institution, is open October 14 through 21. As the nation's largest indoor horse show, The Pennsylvania National has entries from all over the United States and Canada. Held at the Farm Show Arena, in Harrisburg, the show has two performances daily. Tickets, starting at $2, are available at the horse show office and at the Zembo Temple, located on Third Street.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

"I pledge my HEAD to clearer thinking, my HEART to greater loyalty, my HANDS to greater service, and my HEALTH to better living, for my club, my community, my country and my world."

Countless youngsters repeat that 4-H pledge each year as they gather into groups, large and small, to voluntarily become better citizens through self-education. From basic cooking to riflery, public speaking to raising a leader dog for the blind, 4-H'ers help others while learning to help themselves.

This first week in October has been National 4-H week, an annual salute to the 4-H program of America.

And, I believe a special salute is due the mostly-unsung heroes of the 4-H program, those thousands of leaders who selflessly share their time and talents to help build character and understanding in our youth.

Leaders, too, abide by the 4-H pledge; but there are four other "H" words that might also characterize their devotion:

HARASS - Club leaders frequently find themselves prodding their young charges to finish books, complete projects, make suggestions It's rumored that some leaders have been overheard pleading in their sleep, "What do you mean you haven't filled out your blue form yet?"

HURRY - Behind every successful 4-H leader there is a clock that consistently runs too fast. Somehow there is just never quite enough time to plan the next meeting, arrange a committee car pool or drop off all those boxes of 4-H cookies that Susie needs.

HELP - There's only one thing to do when tomorrow is project roundup, and your youngest sewing club member hasn't yet put in her skirt zipper, much less hem up the garment. Leaders also spend a lot of time trying to remember what they were doing before the phone rang the last three times.

HOPE - Will he remember to keep that hog out of the show ring corners? Should we have rewritten that closing sentence in her speech? Will the judge know that one cookie fell on the floor and cracked on our way to the exhibit? Are they really ready as a team for state competition? Do they realize that we just want them to do their best and nothing more?

As a 4-H parent, I say "Thanks" to our dedicated 4-H leaders - each one of you deserves Grand Champion honors.

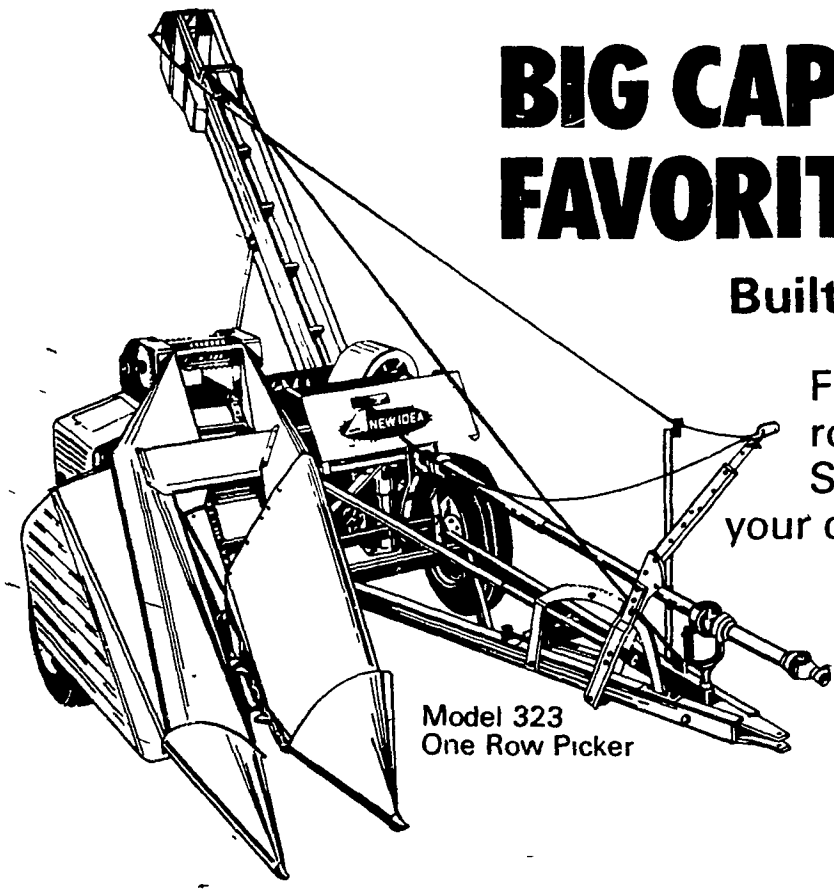
BIG CAPACITY, COST-SAVING FAVORITE 1-ROW SUPERPICKER



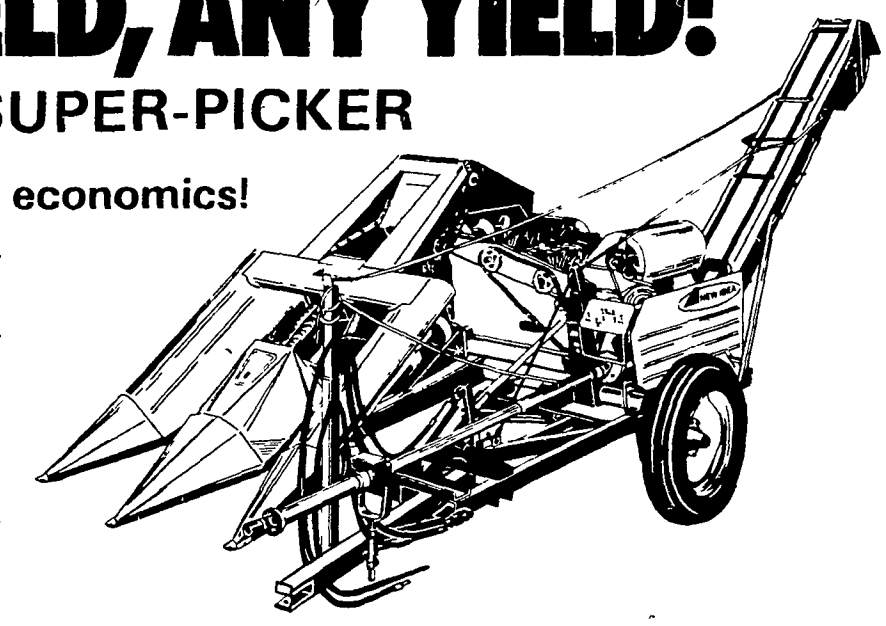
Model 323
One Row Picker

Built For Long, Trouble-Free Service . . .

From the long, tapered floating points and snapping rolls all the way back to its wide wagon elevator, Superpicker does an outstanding job of bringing in your crop . . . And with your Superpicker, corn cribs, and Mother Nature doing the work, you don't have to worry about the rising cost of fuel for drying.

TACKLES ANY FIELD, ANY YIELD!

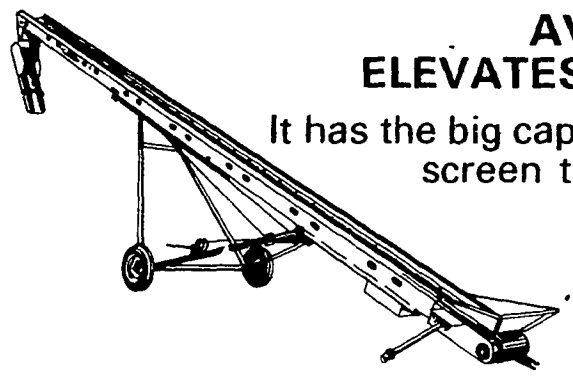
TWO-ROW PULL SUPER-PICKER



SUPERPICKERS . . . 3 steps to harvesting economics!

1. When you invest in an Avco New Idea Superpicker, your initial cost is much lower than that of a self-propelled corn harvester. 2. By cribbing ear corn or shelling when the moisture level is down, you're letting Mother Nature do the drying - without charge. You're avoiding the high cost of drying equipment and conserving valuable fuel. 3. New Idea's unbeatable combination of efficient harvesting and long-life features means you'll get maximum return on your investment.

DESIGNED FOR BIG CAPACITY!



AVCO NEW IDEA 177 FLIGHT ELEVATOR ELEVATES ANYTHING FROM SHELLED CORN TO BALES

It has the big capacity and special features farmers appreciate . . . like a shelled corn screen that separates shelled corn from ear corn. The flights are designed for maximum load carrying . . . they're cupped and pulled from the center to avoid tilting. Constructed from galvanized steel, it comes in your choice of lengths and type of drives and is ready to elevate anything from corn to bales!

Farm Women Societies

Berks Co. Society 5

Mrs. George Manbeck, Womelsdorf, hosted the September meeting of Berks Co. Farm Women Society 5. Nineteen members were present.

The group made 149 candy favors for the Hamburg State School as their program for the evening. A ham on roll sale will be held October 21. Anyone wishing to purchase sandwiches should contact Society 5 by October 14.

Members were reminded to bring prizes for Berks Heim bingo in November. A donation was given to support 4-H Clubs for the year.

Mrs. Leroy Miller will host the October 18 meeting. Featured speakers will be Joyce Moyer, former Lebanon County Dairy Princess, and Faye Strickler speaking on nutrition.

Berks Co. Society 6

The meeting of Berks County Society of Farm Women 6 held their meeting September 26 at the home of Mrs. Merrill Hetrick, Oley. The ladies spent time together making and sewing cancer pads for Berks Heim after the meeting.

Plans were made to attend the Society of Farm Women County Convention at the Ag Center on October 7 starting with registration at 9:30 a.m. The ladies were encouraged to bring items for the bazaar. Mrs. Roger Wagner will be the song leader, Mrs. David Hauseman and Mrs. Randolph Hettrick will be usheretts and Mrs. Merrill Hettrick will help at the bazaar table.

The ladies will be serving at the refreshment stand for sales on October 21, 28, and November 11 at the Oley Fairgrounds.

The next meeting will be a Halloween party, each coming in their Halloween costumes at the home of Mrs. Wm. Koch, Fleetwood on October 17 at 8 p.m.

Lancaster Co Society 4

Betty Siegrist and Mary Shellenberger were elected president and vice-president of the Lancaster County Farm Women Society 4 for the new year. The women met at the home of Mrs. E. Robert Nolt, Lancaster, on September 23.

Dessert was served as the members and guests arrived. There were 28 members and two guests present.

President, Gertrude Yenglin, welcomed everyone; and devotions were in charge of Mrs. Dorothy Gamble. Mrs. Helen Kauffman was in charge of the program, with Bob Nolt, husband of the hostess, taking all by bus to the Kreider Mum Farm. At the business meeting donations were given to the Welsh Mt. Clinic (County project) and a 4-H Demonstration Team competing nationally. All members were requested to send cards to our shut-in's at home and in nursing homes.

The next meeting will be October 28 at the home of Mrs. Carl Siegrist, RD 1 Columbia.

York Co. Society 29

"Sharing the road with a truck" was a presentation by Nancy Eichelferger as part of the safety program conducted by the York County Farm Women Society 29. The meeting was held at the Pine Grove Church Hall on September 12.

Cancer bandages were folded and a business meeting was conducted.

Betty Jordan will host the next meeting which will feature making Santa dolls.

Ladies Have You Heard?

POP, POP, POP GOES AN AMERICAN FAVORITE!

Do you know what's enjoyed to the tune of 400 million pounds per year? None other than one of the earliest American foods - popcorn.

Introduced to American colonists at the first Thanksgiving celebration, popcorn has become a firmly entrenched American tradition. The average American eats about two pounds of popcorn per year.

Much of the world's popcorn supply is grown in the U.S. cornbelt - along with the four other varieties of corn, pod, flint, dent and sweet. Popcorn is the only corn that explodes to many times its original volume when heated. Compared to the other types of corn, popping corn is small in stalk, ear and kernel.

But it's big on many a person's snack guide. Here's why: Popcorn is about 77 per cent carbohydrate, 12 per cent protein, 5 per cent fat and 2 per cent minerals, plus some water and roughage. A low-calorie snack, containing only 23 calories per cut.

It's economical, too. Only a half cup of unpopped corn will fill a four quart popper. That means, you will have enough popcorn to satisfy the whole family for about 39 cents, including the price of oil and salt.

Have you seen the new salt especially designed for popcorn. It is a fine-grained salt that covers and adheres more uniformly to the popcorn pieces. And because of the fine texture, it is less likely to settle to the bottom of the bowl.

Another tip: For variety - especially at Halloween - try popcorn balls. Remember that the looser they are, the easier they are to eat. Press the balls just enough so the shapes hold together. Gently reshape them several times as they cool. Try the following receipe and then, watch out, because before you know it, the neighborhood ghosts and goblins will pop out of nowhere for their Halloween treat.

Popcorn Faces

½ cup butter or margarine
1 (10-½ ounce) bag miniature marshmallows
¾ teaspoon popcorn salt
4 quarts popped corn
French burnt peanuts or other small candies
Licorice whips

Melt butter in large saucepan. Stir in marshmallows and popcorn salt. Cook and stir over low heat just until marshmallows melt. In large roasting pan combine marshmallow mixture with popped corn. Mix well. With wet hands, form into balls.

TO MAKE FACES: Use French burnt peanuts, or other small candies or nuts, for eyes. Use pieces of licorice whip for mouths. Place eyes and mouths on each popcorn ball and push to stick. Wrap balls in plastic wrap or cellophane. If desired, insert a wooden stick into each ball for a handle. Tie with ribbons or twine. Makes 10.

BARGAINS FOR ALL SEASONS

To cope with inflation and rising costs, be on the lookout for bargains and end-of-season sales. To save money, plan your purchases so that you can consistently look for sales throughout the year.

Estimate your gift, personal and household needs for the rest of the year. Traditionally, the next big sales promotional sales for '78 will be on Veterans Day and after Christmas. December is usually the most expensive month of the year to buy gifts, holiday foods - almost everything.

Begin now to shop the sales for gift items. Keep a personal calendar of gifts you must buy throughout the year. Then as appropriate items appear on sale in the stores you can buy them at a savings to you.

In November, watch for post-Thanksgiving sales featuring fall clothing, fabrics, special purchases for holiday gifts, bicycles, car seat covers and water heaters. On the food counter, look for cranberries, nuts, small onions and winter squash.

Post-Christmas clearances on cards, giftwraps and decorations are the best December bargains. Citrus fruits are good food buys during this month.

As for January, resolve to wait for and shop the seasonal sales. The three traditional times for storewide clearances are after Christmas, Easter and July 4th. Summer white sales are traditional. Don't overlook the special purchase and anniversary sales that individual stores may schedule throughout the year. To be certain you'll get good buys, rely not only on the store's reputation but also on your own comparision-shopping so you develop a good sense of values and going prices.

Keep Christmas Cactus cool for holiday bloom

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - Christmas cactus should be kept at a cool temperature from now to mid-November, says New Jersey County Extension Agent Robert Schutzki. High temperature (above 70 degrees) at this time will prevent or delay flowering, since the buds are set in mid-November. A 55 degree night temperature is ideal.

The frequent failure to bloom is usually related to either day length or temperature.

The plant should be kept in a room where it will receive little or no artificial light at night. This light, along with natural light, can make the days too long for bud formation.

The cactus should not be overwatered. Use just enough water to keep the stems from shriveling.

Wood Day set

NAZARETH - Keeping the home fires burning - in wood stoves and fireplaces - will be on the agenda at "Wood Day" October 7 at the Northampton County 4-H Center in Bushkill Center.

This unique event, sponsored by the Northampton County Extension Service, will feature experts on wood selection and use for the growing numbers of urban, suburban and rural homeowners trying to cut home heating costs by installing wood stoves or updating their fireplaces. "Wood Day" is open to the public and is free.

Speakers will cover everything from how to cut and store wood to starting a fire and keeping it burning. A significant portion of the program will be devoted to safe installation and use of wood stoves. Interested participants will even have an opportunity to tour a wood lot with a forester to learn how to identify the best trees for heating.

Conservation speaker tells of future plans

By KENDACE BORRY

READING — Lyle Bauer, president of the National Association of Conservation Districts, was the keynote speaker at the 31st annual meeting of the Pa. Association of District Directors, Inc. He spoke at the group's opening luncheon held October 2 at the Sheraton Berkshire Inn, Reading.

Bauer, who is a wheat and cattle farmer from Harper, Kansas, told his audience that he doesn't have all the answers to the problems facing the conservation districts. He added that as head of the organization he needs advice and hopes to have the wisdom to carry on his duties.

He told of the organization's ability to work together, and how it has grown since its humble beginnings back in 1946. Today it is strongly heard and respected.

Today there are 3,021 conservation districts in the nation, with 2.2 billion acres involved, compared to 1.8 billion acres in 1970.

According to Bauer, conservation districts have broader authorities today. In 1970, only one state had erosion and sediment control legislation. Now there are 16 states which have such legislation. He noted that the past ten years have seen virtually every state strengthen its district legislation, with the addition of new programs and authorities and the complete restructuring of the districts themselves, where necessary.

Bauer spoke of the Rural Clean Water Program, stating that it has been a target of misinformation. He said that the RCWP is a new program, tackling water quality problems in high priority areas, using locally developed plans as the base and emphasizing local administration where possible.

He related that the NACD had fought for a principle in the RCWP–the fact that a locally-planned, locally-developed, and locally administratied voluntary program is what Congress designed the RCWP to be, what the American farmers need, and what the NACD has a chance of doing. The organization took the position that if the project can't be started right, it shouldn't be started at all.

He stressed in his speech that the NACD is looking towards the future, naming some of its concerns.

NACD is concerned about the problem of getting a higher national priority for natural resource programs. He noted that he thinks it is essential for both the economic and environmental well-being of the nation.

"We think a major problem lies in the absence of linkages between food, agriculture and natural resource policies," he stated. "We have seen too many instances where widespread distruction of conservation systems resulted from USDA food or agricultural policy. Today, we see American farmers in serious economic trouble and do not hear solutions proposed that sound promising. One thin is certain: any long-term jstability in U.S. agriculture must be based on the wise use and conservation of our soil and water resources. Any strategy that seeks quick profits but destroys the resource base is self-defeating. Any strategy that ties up and fails to effectively use soil and water to produce the goods needed by people is equally unwise."

Bauer told that he has formed a President's select task force to deal with these problems and asked them to make a report soon to NACD.

One proposal, he observed, that "has been around a long time", and is getting more attention right now is what the NACD calls a conservation incentives program. The basic idea of this program is to provide economic incentives to the farmer through governmental programs that would improve the profitability of his farm if he installs needed conservation measures on his land, and maintains them on a continuing basis. The public benefits to be gained, he reasoned, would justify the cost. The program would reward the conservation farmer.

The "green ticket" idea would be a way of deciding how a farmer could qualify for conservation incentives. Each conservation district can, within its current authorities under state law, establish minimum standards for proper consevation treatment, based on the soil type and other factors, for each type of land use common in the district. Districts now enter into cooperatiove agreements with land users wherein the land user agrees to carry on a conservation program and the district agrees to provide assistance as available. The logical next step is for the district and cooperator to agree on thetype of conservation system needed and feasible on the cooperator's land, and establish a method of annual reporting on that system.

He continued on the subject, telling that farmers who volunteer to cooperate in the program would be issued a "green ticket" each year upon the district's determination that the conservation agreement was being upheld by the land user. This "ticket" would serve to qualify the farmer for the conservation incentives.

He further stated what he thought might be some ideas of what the incentives might be.

One possibility is the USDA Crop Insurance Program. There is a new proppsal in Congress that would base insurance rates on the actual risk incurred by each farmer. Conservation farmers incur less risk by using the land within its capabilities, so they sould pay lower premiums.

Federal icome tax credits would be another incentive. These would be particularly helpful in years when farm prices are up and there is the temptation to bring unsuitable land into production.

Price support programs could have a price bonus and the USDA farm loan programs could have an interest rate differential. Air and water pollution programs could recognize green ticket farmers as having met the requirements for pollutioon control.

He summed up his speech by telling that the Conservation Districts are going to be challenged in the future to assume responsibility and to take care of the needs. The future conservation policies will depend on the commitment of the people, the state commitment, and the federal government commitment, as well as the understanding and support of the programs.

Afterwards he was presented with a check, which made Pennsylvania 100 per cent paid in national dues.

The theme of the 31st joint annual conference was Preparing Today for Tomorrow. The conference ran from October 2 to 4.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Sometimes it seems as though life is made up of "little" things rather than "big" things. Surely births, deaths and weddings have an important place in our life, but what about the thousands of days filled with "little" things.

When these "little" things become too numerous, then I reach for a pencil and make a list of all the undone jobs that are whirling around in my head. The other week was such a time as I listed some twenty things to be done that day. Actually, two of the bigger jobs didn't get done until the next day. But crossing off such things as changed water on goldfish, burned trash, sewed on button, swept porches and fed cats made me feel as though I was accomplishing something. Then I felt more like tackling the bigger jobs like vacuuming the four bedrooms, doing the week's wash, ironing and canning plums.

I even found time to clip some articles from the newspaper for my children who don't live at home and to husk the basket of popcorn which I grew this year. As the list narrowed down to a few items, I realized that the swiss chard would have to be frozen another day and that I couldn't possibly pick the grapes and make juice and jelly until the next day either.

In fact one item was "hoe garden", and that is one that I've decided does not even need to be done. I'll just pull a few weeds here and there as I gather the vegetables and let the rest take care of themselves. One of the joys of Fall is the gathering of the eighteen vegetables that are still growing in my garden and reaping the harvest of all my hard work.

Arborvitae, White Pine shed needles naturally

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - Don't worry if the inside needles of your white pine and arborvitae trees turn brown and drop off because it's a normal occurence, says Robert E. Schutzki of the New Jersey Cooperative Extension Service.

The dropping of new green needles is a different story. This could be caused by damage by insects, too little light, air pollution or a need for extra food.

Spray lilacs for mildew

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - This has been a bad year for powdery mildew disease on lilac bushes, says Robert Schutzki, County Extension Agent, New Jersey.

You'll waste your time spraying now, he says. But if you'd like to control the disease next year, try one of the benomyl products. The spray should be applied during July and August at 2-week intervals.

Even if you don't spray, you'll get flowers every year, because this leaf disease does not show up until later in the Summer.

Leaves become infected early in the Summer, but don't curl until fall.

For more information on the control of this disease as well as other diseases in the flower garden ask your county agricultural agent for the Extension Leaflet 328-F, "Tree, Shrub and Flower Pest Control."

Treichler's win Grange award

HARRISBURG - Keith and Suzanne Treichler, RD 3, Kutztown, have been named the Pennsylvania State Grange's 1978-79 Young Married Couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Treichler won the award at the State Grange's Young Marrieds Weekend held at Edgewater Acres, Alexandria, Huntingdon County.

The Treichlers succeed Richard and Virginia Mangel, Butler.

The 1977-78 Young Married Couple, the Mangels will compete at the National Grange convention in Denver, Colo. November 18 for the title of National Young Married Couple.

Both Keith and Suzanne Treichler are members of Virginville Grange and Berks Pomona Grange. Keith is Steward of Virginville Grange and co-chairman of Young Married Committee. He is employed by Jayla Acres, his parents dairy farm.

Suzanne is a 1976 graduate of Allentown Business School and is employed as a secretary at the Lutheran Home in Topton. She is also a co-chairman of the Young Marrieds and a member of both the Junior Committee and the Women's Activities Committee, in her Subordinate and Pomona Grange.

The Treichlers will represent the Pennsylvania State Grange at the National Grange Convention in the national competition.

Judges for the contest were Mr. and Mrs. James Biddle, Spring Mills, and Mrs. Harry Keith, Entriken.

Don't you remember? You filled our tank just last year!

The secret of this family's low oil consumption is neither long underwear nor frequent trips to the Bahamas. It is their HS Tarm combination boiler. This boiler for central hot-water systems allows them to burn wood and oil. When fueled with wood, it heats their house and provides oceans of hot tap water as well. Should the wood fire go untended, the oil burner will continue to supply all their heating and hot water needs.

Imported from Denmark, the HS Tarm boiler displays traditional Danish quality in design, construction and performance. It is available in three sizes, and comes with American made and approved controls and equipment. See less of your oil delivery man.

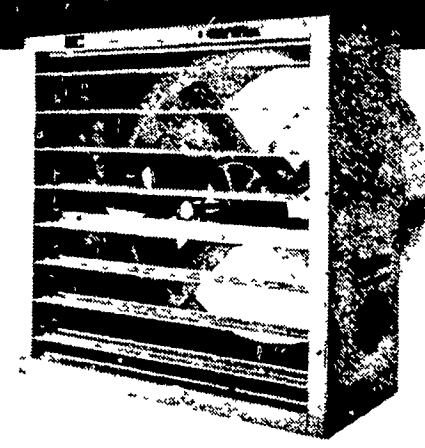
Vent-O-Matic's VER Can Save You Thousands of Dollars Per Year!



We always said ventilation efficiency is best measured by the cubic feet of air moved for each watt of electricity used.

Now, specialists are stressing the importance of VER — Ventilation Efficiency Ratio — and Vent-O-Matic can give you this information with its fans.

Test results from the Tuscarora wind tunnel laboratory prove that Vent-O-Matic fans are the most efficient on the market. They were designed that way. Vent-O-Matic fans can save enough electricity to pay for themselves in less than three years. And, going still further, a Vent-O-Matic System can save up to 30% of the brooding heating fuel because of its heat-saving design principle.

These benefits are extremely important when you consider this statement from Pennsylvania State University: "In the last five years the cost of electricity has doubled while brooding fuel cost has tripled. If this rate continues, the poultry industry will be gone from Pennsylvania by 1982."

Whether you have poultry, dairy, veal calves or swine, shouldn't you know the VER of your ventilating system? We'll be glad to send you the figures on the kind of energy efficiency and heat-saving you get with Vent-O-Matic. Write — or call us — today.

Champions chosen at Berks Co. market hog sale

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

LEESPORT - Showing the grand champion market hog is an experience thirteen year old Todd Miller, Hamburg, is becoming accustomed to. Todd was named grand champion at the Berks County 4-H market hog sale held September 20 at the Leesport Market Auction. Making this accomplishment even more exciting than usual was the fact that Todd, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller, had also shown the grand champion at the Reading Fair the previous week. Both hogs were crossbreds which Todd had raised as penmates, and the only hogs he has shown this year, so having both earn him top awards was extra special for this second year showman.

Todd also shows dairy cattle and is active in 4-H. He was also named Junior Champion Showman here at Leesport by the official judge, Henry Gruber of A&B Packing, Allentown.

Showing hogs for his second year, Greg Stricker, 10, won reserve grand champion market hog. Greg, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Stricker, Bernville had the reserve mediumweight champion as well.

In the fitting contest, Greg Stricker was named junior champion and Gray Rohrbach, reserve junior champion. Junior champion showman was Todd Miller while Steve Rohrbach was awarded the Reserve title. In the senior division showmanship, Wendy Yoder was champion and Darlene Dietrich, Reserve Champion. Wendy and Darlene were also named the grand and reserve showman, respectively.

Senior champion fitter was presented to Darlene Dietrich while Wendy took the reserve champion title. Grand champion fitter was Greg Stricker with Darlene named reserve grand champion.

Hatfield Packing out bidded many buyers present at they purchased the grand champion for $3 a pound, and the reserve for $1.50 per pound. Hatfield bought the most hogs, taking 21 of the 45 sold by 4-Hers. The average price paid per hog was 70 cents per pound for a total of $6971 for 10,055 pounds.

Herr chosen Fair queen

LAMPETER — Kim Herr, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Herr, Willow Street, was named queen of the West Lampeter Community Fair on Thursday, September 28. She was chosen among 123 contestants vying for the title.

First runner up in the contest was Sandy Haverstick, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Haverstick, Lancaster. Second runner up was Lynn Harrison, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis L. Harrison, Lancaster.

The new queen is active in Lampeter Strasburg High School. She is a cheerleader, works for the school newspaper and the school yearbook, of which she is the layout editor. She also has a part in the Fall school play, and participates in the Varsity Club.

She is also a member at the Lamcaster Conservatory of Music.

Judges for the contest were state Representative Gibson Armstrong, who represents the 100th District, Gloria Fetter, WGAL-TV, and Maggie Hoffinger, Lancaster County Junior Miss.

State 4-H awards given to Lancaster Co. youths

UNIVERSITY PARK - Two Lancaster County young adults, who have compiled outstanding records in 4-H work, are state contest winners in the 1978 4-H National Awards Program.

Named were Deborah Enders, of Lancaster, state winner in conservation; and Nancy Marie Wenger, 19, of Stevens R1, state nominee for an animal science scholarship.

Deborah will receive an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 26 to 30, and compete for awards at the national level. Nancy's 4-H records will be entered in national competition with scholarship selections to be announced during the national conference.

Support of the conservation project is provided by John Deere, and the animal science scholarship, Allied Mills, Inc.

They were picked from among the 145,000 youth who annually take part in the Extension Service educational 4-H program.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Enders, Deborah is a senior at the Hempfield High School. She has been a 4-H member for seven years.

Nancy Wenger

Deb Enders

A member of the Lancaster County Red Rose 4-H Baby Beef and Lamb Club, she served as president, vice president, secretary, news reporter, song leader, and teen leader.

The scholarship nominee completed projects in beef, sewing, and teen leadership.

She took part in the Lancaster County 4-H Baby Beef Roundup, Lancaster County 4-H Dress Revue, Farm Show, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, Keystone International Livestock Exposition, and Eastern National Livestock Exposition.

"With my 4-H projects, not only did I learn the many factors involved in preparing the best possible project, but also, I became very aware of the many responsibilities which accompany any worthwhile endeavor," Nancy points out.

A member of the Mountville 4-H Community Club, she served as president, song leader, and assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader.

The state conservation contest winner completed projects in wildlife conservation, knitting, sewing, babysitting, design with form, and teen leadership.

Locally, Deborah took part in the 4-H day camp, dress revue, queen contest, and achievement day.

She also participated in the Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, Regional 4-H Demonstration Day, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, and State 4-H Achievement Days.

She was chosen as the Outstanding 4-H Teen Leader in Lancaster County.

Commenting on the values of the educational youth program, Deborah said: "4-H has given me an opportunity to learn new skills. It also has given me the opportunity to learn the meaning of responsibility."

Nancy, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Wenger, is a junior at the Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture, majoring in animal husbandry. She has been a 4-H member for seven years.

Risser named state 4-H scholarship winner

UNIVERSITY PARK - Philip E. Risser, 18, Leola R1, who has compiled an outstanding record in 4-H work, was named recently state winner of an agribusiness careers scholarship in the 1978 4-H National Awards Program.

Philip's 4-H records will be entered in national competition with winners to be announced in late November. He will receive a $400 college scholarship and compete for a trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 26 to 30

Support of the agribusiness careers scholarship program is provided by DeKalb Agricultural Research, Inc.

Phil Risser

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen K. Risser, he has been a 4-H member for nine years. He is a freshman at Penn State, majoring in agricultural engineering.

A member of three Lancaster County 4-H Clubs, he served as president, treasurer, news reporter, and game leader. He also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader.

The scholarship winner completed projects in dairy, swine, sweet corn, tractor maintenance, handyman, geology, and teen leadership

Locally, he took part in the 4-H achievement day, exchange program, roundup, demonstration day, and public speaking contest.

Philip also participated in the Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, Regional 4-H Demonstration Day, State 4-H Achievement Days, State 4-H Capital Days, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, and Citizenship Short Course.

He was the high individual in potato judging in the state contest held as part of the 1978 State Farm Show.

Commenting on the values of the educational youth program, Philip said: "4-H has taught me to accept responsibility, enjoy achievements, and accept failures. It also has given me an opportunity to participate in many programs and activites."

4-H officers elected

She also participated in Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, Report to the State Team, State 4-H Achievement Days, Farm Show, Pennsylvania Association of Farmers Cooperative Summer Youth Institute, and National Junior Horticultural Association Convention.

In 1977 she was named Cumberland County's Outstanding 4-H Dairy Member and was a gold medalist at State 4-H Achievement Days with her safety demonstration.

"4-H has contributed mostly to my strength of character," she says. "I have learned to handle added responsibility and how to work effectively with others."

Judy Long, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Long, Sr., is a 1978 high school graduate. She has been a 4-H member the past nine years.

A member of six Cumberland County 4-H Clubs, she served as president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and teen leader.

In Cumberland County, Judy took part in the 4-H horse show, swine roundup, fun day, banquet, picnic, county council, and judging.

She also participated in the 4-H District 4-H Horse Show, Regional 4-H Demonstration Day, Regional 4-H Dress Revue, Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, State 4-H Achievement Days, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, National Junior Horticultural Association Convention, Commodity Marketing Symposium, and Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Summer Youth Institute.

She was a Keystone 4-H Award winner in beef, horse, and commodity marketing. She also was recipient of the Senator Wade Memorial Plaque for her citizenship activities.

"I've traveled many roads, crossed many bridges and always felt I've come out on top as a result of my 4-H experiences," Judy notes.

FFA conference attended

LEBANON - Twelve members of the Cedar Crest FFA recently attended an FFA Leadership Training Conference at Blue Mountain High School. The purpose of the event was to familiarize FFA officers and members with their duties and responsibilities as chapter leaders.

The group was greeted by Mr. James Romberger, Principal of Blue Mountain High School. As part of the prograjm, Sheryl A. Bollinger, the state FFA secretary, spoke to the group about leadership. A demonstration on proper etiquette was presented by Mrs. Ruth Hand, Schuylkill County Home Economist.

After dinner, all members retreated to an officer group room where specific duties of each FFA office were described. The highlight of the evening was the Greenhand Quiz Contest where first year FFA members from Lebanon and Schuylkill Counties competed. The contestants had to orally answer difficult questions dealing with the history of the FFA. Competing from Cedar Crest were Daryl Balmer, Jay Martin and Mark Patches. Patches tied for first while Martin tied for third in a field of twenty-one contestants. Closing remarks were given by Harvey Smith, FFA Area Consultant

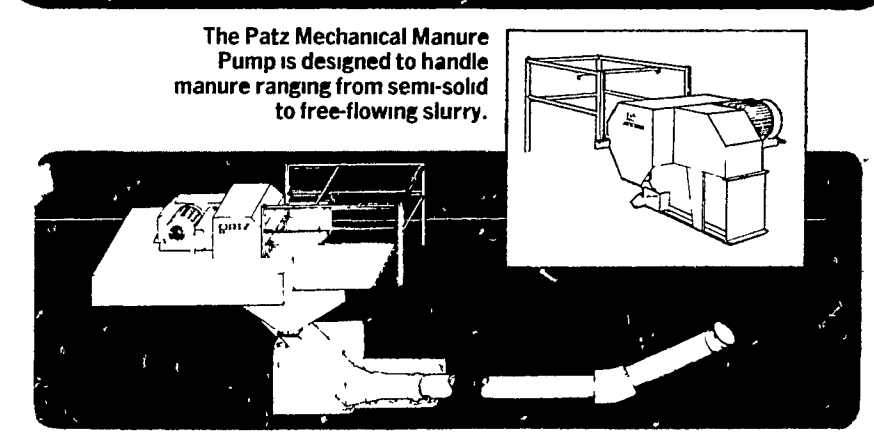
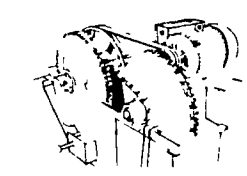
slurry manure pump

The Patz Mechanical Manure Pump is designed to handle manure ranging from semi-solid to free-flowing slurry.

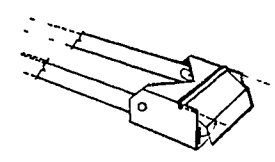


The Patz Slurry Manure Pump provides the ultimate solution to the moving of slurry liquid manure from dairy, beef, hogs or poultry installations to manure storage facilities

The new Patz Slurry Pump can move slurry and liquids up to 150 feet The manure is supplied to an underground hopper with a gutter cleaner or scraper and is forced into a 12 inch P V C pipe by means of an 8 inch by 15 inch plunger



A 10 h p electric motor running a roller chain reduction unit drives the plunger at a rate of 21 strokes per minute The Patz exclusive roller chain drive unit is the most efficient way to transmit a smooth flow of power (Shown with guard removed)



The 8 inch by 15 inch plunger has a one way valve in the sleeve which closes on the forward stroke forcing the manure into the storage facility and opens on the backward stroke for the next load

Winners named at West Lampeter dairy show

LAMPETER — Jay Landis, Lancaster, showing a three-year-old Holstein bred and raised on his farm, was named senior and grand champion of the West Lampeter Fair Holstein Show last week.

The cow, Pataja Raverion Lynda, had milked 17,000 pounds in 1977 and was estimated at 18,000 for 1978. She had been shown at the fair as a two-year-old and placed second in her age class.

Ken Findley, Willow Street, showed the grand champion in the Ayrshire, and JoAnn Findley, of the same address, had the reserve champion Ayrshire and only Jersey shown.

Two showmen were chosen at the show, with exhibitors competing form all breeds.

The top junior showman was Karen Shertzer, a three year member of the Lancaster County 4-H Holstein Club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shertzer.

Jeff Hess, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Hess, was named senior showman. A freshman at Lampeter-Strasburg High School, he, too, is a member of the Lancaster County 4-H Holstein Club.

Judge of the approximately 60 animals exhibited was Lewis C. Ayers, vocational agriculture teacher, Ephrata High School.

Results of the show follow:

Jay Landis, Lancaster, showed his three year old Pataja Raverion Lynda, to be named the best in the Holstein division of the West Lampeter dairy show.

HOG FENCING BUILT TO LAST AND LAST!

NORTHCO PANEL FENCING

NORTHCO PANEL FENCING is available in stainless steel or galvanized Stainless Steel panels are generally used over the pit

Panels are designed with a positive locking system and can easily be opened with Northco's gate closure rod.

HOG PANEL FENCING

MADE FOR CONFINEMENT

- Northco Hog Panel Fencing is built specifically for hog confinement by the experts in the field That's why Northco Panel Fencing has advantages like these
- UPRIGHT PICKETS—Hogs can't climb the upright pickets and the "open" design of Northco Panel Fencing aids the ventilation system.
- EVERY SECTION SWINGS—The closure rod can be quickly removed so every fencing section in the building will act as a gate.
- EASY TO INSTALL—Hinges allow for some length adjustment to simplify installation Also Northco Panel Fencing can be ordered in sizes to fit almost any hog building including both total confinement and open front systems

The Northco Hog Experts have designed SUCCESSFUL hog confinement systems since 1963. This experience is part of the reason Northco is considered the leader in hog confinement.

Manheim Fair celebrates 25th year

MANHEIM — The Manheim Community Fair celebrates its silver anniversary next week when the annual celebration gets underway at the Manheim Community Park, here.

The 25th edition of the Manheim Community Fair officially begins on Monday, Oct. 9, when visitors from near and far will receive the opportunity to inspect some of the area's finest farm produce and livestock. Activities will continue through the 13th, with the last activities being the hog, lamb, and beef sales. Exhibits are to be removed by 9:30 p.m.

According to directors of the event, the tradition of the Manheim Fair's farm show has been "promoting competition and exhibition of our agricultural, homemakers, arts and crafts and commercial exhibits among the citizens of our local community. The viewing of exhibits is educational and inspires creativity and competition in the minds of the observers."

"The program has been oriented around having fun, food, fibre, and fellowship, a Christian atmosphere that everyone in a family can enjoy and share. We hope that exhibitors will bring their best products for exhibits and then come and invite their friends and neighbors. Our commercial exhibits round out the rest of the community's nature, so we encourage all to attend," the Manheim Farm Show Committee reports.

"We have added two more days to the farm show. We are extremely grateful to all of the community people who have worked to make this event possible and to all the patrons and local businesses who have financially supported the farm show over the years," the committee continued.

To participate in the Manheim Fair as an exhibitor, interested parties must first register and receive his or her number which will be used on all of his or her entries throughout the show. For advanced registrations, interested parties are asked to call Joe Fauber at 665-2849. Art exhibits will be placed in the Art Center today between noon and 5 p.m. More exhibits, other than livestock and commercial, may be entered Sunday afternoon between 2 and 5 p.m. The deadline for commercial exhibits is 10 a.m. Monday.

4-H runs in Steve Shaw's family

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG — Fifteen-year old Steve Shaw didn't hesitate at all when he was asked why he is a 4-H Club member. "It runs in the family, we've been in farming for a long time and 4-H just comes natural," the Berks Countian replied. Steve, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, Oley, was this year's owner of the grand champion 4-H Holstein at the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show. It was held here a week ago as a part of the week-long All-American Dairy Show.

The young man was also quick to give his father a share of the credit for the success he has had with his 4-H projects, including show ring competition. "Having a father who knows cattle helps me a lot," Steve explained. "My father was a 4-H'er and is one of our club's leaders today. He has been in the dairy business since the day he was born."

A member of the Eastern Berks Dairy Club, where he is currently the game leader, Steve exclaims that "4-H is really great; you learn valuable information about showing cattle and all other aspects of dairying." That's important to young Shaw, who says he'd someday like to farm on his own or go into a partnership with his father. There are 150 acres, 105 of which are tillable, on the home farm.

Steve and his 17-year old sister, Wendy, have already begun a small herd of their own, the home-bred animals of which come under the W-S Linden Loch prefix. Wendy, like her brother, is very much interested in dairy cattle. She has four state Junior Holstein Show titles to her credit, the most recent one coming just last week when she won the Pennsylvania FFA Holstein division. It was the second year in a row that she accomplished that feat. In the two previous years she won the Pennsylvania 4-H Holstein division championships.

Steve's 4-H champion this year was a cow which was purchased at a private sale in Maryland last year. Since then, he has shown her eight times, almost always winning grand champion honors. Richard Keene of Gilbertsville, N.Y., who judged the Holstein contest last week, described the white bovine as "a tremendous dairy cow." She is estimated to produce 19,400 pounds of milk and 821 pounds of butterfat this year as a 6-year old.

But 4-H is a lot more than showing and fitting cows. It's work and fun, learning and maturing, winning and losing, challenges and routines. According to Steve, there isn't anything about 4-H that he doesn't like.

Closet Poinsettia now for holiday blooms

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - It's time to put the Poinsettias back into the closet if you hope to have colorful bracts for the holiday season. It's already October and care should commence on all the holiday plants to insure bountiful blooms by December, says Robert Schutzki, New Jersey County Extension Agent.

Poinsettia, probably one of the most popular holiday bloomer, is a short day plant. It requires a short day or more important a long dark period to initiate the flower process. If plants are to flower, they must be kept in darkness from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m., from the first of October to Thanksgiving. Careful attention is essential to insure that the dark period is not interrupted by indoor or outdoor lights. Quite often commercial producers experience problems with street lamps or other external lighting which produce enough radiant energy to prevent the normal flower process. Generally we can expect a visual sign of flowering approximately two to three months after the initiation of controlled daylight.

We can produce the short day-light by placing the plants in a closet or by placing a box over the plant for the recommended period of time. Keep in mind that the plant must not be disturbed for that 15 hour period.

During the light hours, the plant should be placed in a sunny window. A Southern window will provide an excellent condition. Try to maintain soil moisture at moderate and uniform levels. The soil should neither be soggy wet nor bone dry. Fertilizer can be applied either by liquid, granular, or slow release type. It has been shown the Poinsettia requires a regular feeding program.

Follow the directions on your fertilizer container. It will provide the required rates.

Extend tomatoseason beyond killing frost

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - One of the most frustrating experiences a home vegetable gardener can have is to lose a crop of good-sized tomatoes because of a killing frost. A little planning and quick action can avert this disappointment, says Robert Schutzki, of the New Jersey Cooperative Extension Service.

Tomatoes that are green but fully mature can be harvested and brought into a protected place to ripen before the fatal frost if a close watch is kept on weather forecasts.

To determine which green tomatoes will ripen and which will not, select a few fruits of different sizes and slice them crosswise. The ones with well-developed seeds and plenty of juice will most likely ripen. You can be sure they will ripen if they have a little yellow or pink color inside. Once you have determined the maturity of the fruit from the inside, you'll know the right size to harvest. Fruits with small seeds can be harvested to make relishes or pickles.

There are two ways you can ripen green tomatoes or those that are just turning color:

The easiest method is to place the tomatoes in a single layer on a bench or in shallow boxes. The fruit will ripen very well in complete darkness with the temperature between 65 and 75 degrees.

Large quantities of tomatoes should be divided into three or four groups. The fruits that are totally green should be isolated from those that are just turning color. The ones that are turning color should be separated from the fruits that are mostly yellow or pink. Inspect the tomatoes daily for spots or signs of decay. These should be discarded immediately.

The second method of ripening tomatoes indoors is to cut the stem of the plant about six inches above the soil line and bring the whole vine, tomatoes and all, into a protected area such as a garage, breezeway or cellar. Tie a piece of strong twine to the base of the stem and hang the plant on a nail or other supporting device with the stem end up, making sure the entire plant is suspended.

If the plants are on stakes or trellises, extra care should be taken to cut the ties from top to bottom and gently lay the plant on the ground before severing the stem.

The "whole plant" method will result in better fruit ripening than harvesting green tomatoes. You'll have a messy clean-up job to do after all the fruits have matured, but once you taste the red-ripe flavor you'll say it's worth it.

Grange meets

VIRGINVILLE — At a recent meeting, the Virginville Grange announced that Mr. and Mrs. Keith Treichler were chosen as the Young Married couple of the state.

Berks County Poultry Association revives its own history to build a more secure future

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

SHILLINGTON - Reviving an old tradition from the past, the Berks County Poultry Association held a chicken barbeque for their annual meeting, October 1st. To highlight the special occasion, guest of honor, Lowell Blass of Hubbard Farms, Walpole, N.H. presented a brief history dating back to September 22, 1951, when the organization held it's first barbeque.

Blass, acting as Berks County Extension agent at the time, was instrumental in reinstituting the poultry association, and along with thre other poultrymen of the county played an important role in getting chicken barbeqeuing started in Pennsylvania.

He also reminded the area poultrymen of the importance of their product, as well as all other agricultural products in the country's balance of payment on the world trade market, "especially with the high cost of oil that is being imported," he explained.

Barbeqeuing and the chicken of tomorrow contest has played an important factor in breeding the feed efficient birds we have today, Blass continued. The feed conversion per pound of broiler meat has gone from 4.5 pounds of feed in 1948 to two pounds of feed today. Chicken cooking contests also played an important role, also helping to increase the amount of poultry consumption per person.

Rudy Von Dohren, another pioneer in chicken barbeqeuing, also reminisced about the early barbequeing days, explaining how the associatin got their first grills and how quickly their recipe of vinegar, water, butter, and salt became so popular the demand for their chickens was too great for the area poultrymen to handle.

To recognize these early pioneers of barbequeing the poultry association presented special awards to Van Dohren and Blass and two others of equal importance. Plaques were presented to Blass, Von Dohren of Oley, Walter 'Sol' Shearer, Shillington, and Carl Dossin, former Extension poultry specialist.

Youth awards were also presented to FFA members for outstanding poultry projects. Receiving awards were Todd Lynn and Todd Long, both of Conrad Weiser, Dean Bruno, Marjorie Faust, Richard Dietrich, and Dean Shoemaker, all of Kutztown Area High School. A special award was also given to the Kutztown FFA Chapter for their broiler business

The election of officers was also held during the business meeting that followed the barbeque. Elected were: Mark Yorgey, Fleetwood, president; Melvin Kramer, Boyertown, first vice president; Eleanor Sechler, Strausstown, secretary; Matthew Shuhler, Bally, treasurer; and Paul Myers, Fleetwood; Ernest Shane, Oley; Lawrence Houp, Oley; Hendrik Wentink, Wyomissing; Rae Hix, Mohrsville; and Harold Althouse, Fleetwood - directors.

Rifle Show, seminars set for Nov. 4 and 5

LANCASTER - A special event featuring Kentucky rifles and other colonial weapons will be held in the Lancaster area on November 4 and 5. The program will take place at two locations: a show and sale at the Neffsville Community Fire Hall and two seminars at the Pennsylvania Farm Museum of Landis Valley. Both parts of the program will be open to the public.

The goal of the program is to acquaint participants with colonial weapons and accessories. Collectors, muzzle-loading enthusiasts, and any other interested individuals are invited to attend.

The seminars at the Farm Museum will be held on November 4 at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. The earlier seminar will be an informal program at the Museum's Gun Shop and will focus on the craft of the gunsmith. Several working gunsmiths will demonstrate selected aspects of the craft. Charles Heistand of Marietta and Reaves Goehring of Columbia will work at the gun shop forge demonstrating the hand-forging of a gun barrel. Stanley Hollenbaugh of East Berlin, Robert Wheeler of Dundalk, Maryland, and Jack Spotz of York will demonstrate other aspects of gunsmithing.

The second seminar session will be held in the Farm Museum's auditorium at 7 p.m. This session will focus on the repair and restoration of antique Kentucky rifles. A panel of experts will discuss various aspects of repair and restoration and members of the audience will be encouraged to participate. Panel members will include Charles Heistand, Stanley Hollenbaugh, Robert Wheeler, Kit Ravenshear of Benton, Pa., and William Bankard of Baltimore.

Tickets for the seminars will be $2, entitling ticketholders to attend both sessions.

The Pennsylvania Farm Museum is located on the Oregon Pike (Route 272) about four miles north of Lancaster. It is an outdoor museum of Pennsylvania rural life featuring over 20 exhibit buildings and approximately 100 acres of grounds. The museum will also be open to the general public both days of the Kentucky rifle program.

The Kentucky Rifle Show and Sale will be held at the Neffsville Community Fire Hall from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on November 4 and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on November 5. The show will feature exhibits of Kentucky rifles and accessories, colonial weapons, Indian trade goods, Bowie knives, and colonial clothing.

The show will also be open from 8:30 to 10 p.m. on Saturday, November 4 for dealers and seminar ticketholders.

Admission to the show and sale will be $1 per person.

The Neffsville Community Fire Hall is located on Route 722, approximately 1 block east of Route 501 in Neffsville, PA.

Chairman for the seminar is Reaves Goehring of Columbia. Goehring is a teacher and an avid collector and gunsmith. Working with him is John E. Holman, Jr. of Elizabethtown. For information or seminar tickets, one can contact Holman at Elizabethtown R2, Pa. 17022 or telephone 717)944)6274.

Adams Co. youths chosen for state 4-H awards

UNIVERSITY PARK — Three Adams County young adults, who have compiled oustanding records in 4-H work, have been named state contest winners in the 1978 4-H National Awards Program.

Named were Patricia Lear, 18, York Springs R1, state winner in recreation; Heidi Wearne, 18, Orrtanna R1, state nominee for an Edwin T. Meredith Foundation Scholarship; and Joyce Hinkle, 18, York Springs R1, state commodity marketing contest winner.

Patricia and Heidi will be eligible to attend National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 26 to 30. Heidi's 4-H records will be entered in national competition with scholarships to be announced in late November.

Joyce will receive an expense-paid trip to the Commodity Marketing Symposium to be held in Chicago, February 26 to March 1.

The daughter of Mrs. June Leer, Patricia is a freshman at West Virginia University, majoring in parks and recreation. She has been a 4-H member for seven years.

A member of five Adams County 4-H Clubs, she served as president, secretary, treasurer, news reporter, song leader, and game leader. She also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader.

The state recreation contest winner completed projects in create a project, hiking, cooking, archery, recreation, wildlife conservation, soil and water conservation, bicycle, and teen leadership.

Locally, Patricia took part in the 4-H demonstration day, roundup, exchange program, and leader training.

She also participated in the Regional 4-H Demonstration Day, Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, State 4-H Achievement Days, Farm Show, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, and Citizenship Short Course.

Commenting on the values of the educational youth program, Patricia said: "4-H has helped me in deciding upon my major field of study in college. It has also given me a wide range of knowledge through project work."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper K. Wearne, Heidi is a freshman at Penn State, majoring in entomology. She has been a 4-H member for nine years.

A member of the Cashtown 4-H Community Club, she served as president, secretary, treasurer, news reporter, game leader, and teen leader.

The scholarship nominee completed projects in cooking, sewing, gardening, forestry, geology, bicycle, and engomology.

Heidi took part in Regional 4-H Camp, Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, State 4-H Achievement Days, State 4-H Capital Days and Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress.

She was a member of the first place team and was second place individual in the entomology judging contest held at State 4-H Achievement Days at Penn State.

"Through 4-H projects and special interest programs, I have gained knowledge and experience in entomology. It also helped me in my career selection," Heidi points out.

Joyce Hinkle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hinkle, and a freshman at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, majoring in consumer services. She has been a 4-H member for 10 years.

Soy harvest increased by management

NEWARK, Del. - Don't throw away your profits on poor harvest practices. Soybean growers can add as much as $18 per acre to their returns this fall through better harvest management. Tom Williams, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware, says the average soybean grower loses as much as three bushels per acre through poor harvest management.

With today's soybean prices close to $6 per bushel, there's good monetary incentive for producers to harvest as many beans as possible.

Here are some steps Williams recommends to assure a more profitable soybean harvest:

Begin harvesting when soybean seed moisture reaches 14 percent. Shatter losses increase markedly when moisture levels drop below 11.5 per cent.

Harvest at an average combine speed between 2.5 and 3 miles per hour. Combines operate most efficiently at that range - and the cutter bar is allowed to ride down for maximum cut.

Count lost soybeans already on the ground before harvest; pre-harvest losses should not be charged against combining. Four beans per square foot indicate a bushel lost per acre.

Match ground speed to combine reel speed. Best speed ratio is a reel speed of 1.25 times the combine ground speed.

Cut soybeans as close to the ground as possible. The goal is to harvest all the pods - even the very lowest. Tests show a 10 per cent reduction in harvest losses when soybeans are cut at 2 ½ inches. The new floating cutter bars substantially reduce this harvesting loss.

Measure soybean losses from cutting, gathering and threshing operations to pinpoint necessary adjustments.

Continually adjust the combine to changing crop conditions.

For more information on cutting losses, contact the county extension office in Georgetown, Dover, or Newark. Ask for a copy of "A Guide for Measuring Soybean Harvest Losses."

Lawn care tips offered

UNIVERSITY PARK - One of the best ways to improve or rejuvenate lawns that have suffered from prolonged drought conditions or been seriously weakened by excessive rainfall causing the leaching and depletion of nutrients is to stimulate growth with fertilizer. This also applies to thin and poorly-colored lawns. Even lawns which have a good turf should be fertilized to maintain green color and a dense stand of desirable grasses.

A high nitrogen fertilizer such as 10-6-4 applied at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds every 1000 square feet is recommended. Fertilizer of a different analysis having a ratio similar to 10-6-4 may also be used. The rate of application should be adjusted so as to provide an equivalent amount of nitrogen. However, homeowners should heed the following cautions:

In order to obtain satisfactory results, proper application is necessary. Make sure the rate of application is correct. Do not apply fertilizer when the grass is wet. Spread fertilizer evenly and avoid missing areas between spreader widths. Improper application of fertilizer can ruin a lawn because of burning or it will produce a pattern of light and dark streaks. Fertilizing now will not only improve its appearance this fall but will prepare it better for the battle against crabgrass and other weeds next year.

Miss Apple Queen USA to be named October 14

BIGLERVILLE - Sandra D. Markey of York will be Pennsylvania's representative in the "Miss Apple Queen U.S.A." contest, a highlight of the annual Apple Harvest Festival to be held the first two weekends of October in Adams County, Pennsylvania.

Miss Markey who is Pennsylvania's Apple Queen is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Horticultural Association. She will compete against 14 other Apple and Harvest Queens and Princesses from throughout the United States for the coveted "Miss Apple Queen U.S.A." title and the $1,000 cash award that accompanies the title. Miss Markey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Markey of York. She is a graduate of Dallastown Area High School and is currently employed with Commonwealth National Bank.

Along with the other "Miss Apple Queen U.S.A." contestants, she will be treated to a three-day whirl of activites including tours of Adams County Orchards and Historic Gettysburg, Luncheons, receptions and an apple picking contest between the Queen Contest participants as well as appearances at the Apple Harvest Festival.

The new queen will be crowned at the gala Apple Harvest Ball on Saturday Evening, October 14, at the Sheraton Inn, Gettysburg. The crowning ceremonies will be presided over by the reigning Miss Apple Queen U.S.A., Debbie Lott of Gettysburg, PA.

The winning contestant will be judged not only for her beauty, poise, intelligence and personality, but also on her knowledge of apples and her public speaking ability.

The Miss Apple Queen U.S.A. Contest and the Apple Harvest Festival are sponsored by the Upper Adams Jaycees with the cooperation of the Adams County Fruit Growers Association, the Arendtsville Fire Company and the Gettysburg Travel Council.

For more information, Contact: John Adamik, "Miss Apple Queen U.S.A." Contest, Box 38, Biglerville, Pa. 17307 or telephone (717) 677-9413.

Walker testifies on nutritional labeling

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressman Bob Walker (R-16-Pa.) last week called for a workable nutrition education program through translating current nutrition technology into an understandable form.

Walker made the remarks in testimony at food labeling hearings conducted by the Food and Drug Administration. He was one of only three congressmen invited to testify at the hearings.

"Few things are as important to Americans as good health and nutrition is an important factor in maintaining good health

"According to a recently published consumer study, 77 per cent of those consumers interviewed indicated that they felt nutrition mattered more now than ever before," Walker said.

Walker focused the bulk of his testimony on his own legislation which would provide a pictorial label on all food packaging showing nutritional content in an easy to understand fashion.

"Specifically, my bill requires a label revealing caloric content; carbohydrate and fat content; the portion of the recommended daily allowance of proteins, vitamins and minerals; and the ratio of caloric content to the nutritional content.

"The label I am proposing is taken from a system developed by Albert Heinj of Holland where it has proven to be both useful and successful," Walker said.

Walker noted further that his proposal would allow shoppers to judge a product on its merits through a system of intelligent comparisons. He termed the Heijn-type label "practical and educational."

"There is a pressing need to translate what we know into language the public can understand.

"In simple terms, the public should have available for its use what has been, up to now, largely in the realm of research and education.

"I am hopeful that the appropriate agencies will work cooperatively with Congress on obtaining a good, easily understood nutrition label," Walker concluded.

PFA applauds re-introduction of national ag bargaining law

CAMP HILL - Pennsylvania Farmers' Association President Eugene Thompson on Monday applauded the efforts of two Pennsylvania congressmen in re-introducing the National Agricultural Bargaining Act (H.R. 13869).

Rep. John Murtha (D. - 12th District) traveled from Washington, D.C. to the Clearfield Hospital bedside of Rep. Joseph Ammerman (D. - 23rd Dist.) last week to obtain his signature so that bill can be re-introduced with several co-sponsors, including Rep. Murtha.

Rep. Ammerman, the bill's chief sponsor, is recuperating from an auto accident which occured August 20, just five days after he originally introduced the legislation.

PFA President Thompson noted the bill has the support of PFA's national affiliate, The American Farm Bureau Federation, also the Grange, Farmers Union, and the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

Thompson said, " This legislation will help make farmers participants in negotiating terms of sale for their products in the market system rather than leaving them to rely on government supports or resorting to "farm strikes" to improve their financial condition."

The legislation gives the Secretary of Agriculture authority to accredit bargaining farm producer associations. Once accredited, a farm group and its handlers are required to bargain in good faith for terms of sale, price and other provisions.

U.S. Congressman John P. Murtha (D., District 12) had U.S. Congressman Joe Ammerman sign the proposed marketing and bargaining act for farmers for re-introduction by Congressman Murtha. Ammerman, chief sponsor of the bill, has been recuperating from an auto accident for more than a month. Left to right they are: Ammerman, Murtha, Charles R. Ord, administrative secretary, Pennsylvania Farmers' Association; and Richard Newpher, governmental relations director, also of Farmers' Association.

A.I. unit to be honored

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - Cooperative Artificial Breeding Association, Unit 1, will celebrate its 40th year of service as a farmers' cooperative on Thursday evening, October 26, at the Flemington Elks Hall. A social period has been set for 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7:15, reports Edgar Woolf, Asbury N.J., Chairman of the Unit 1 Advisory Committee.

Unit 1 has been providing continuous service to its members in the Hunterdon, Somerset and Warren County area since its inception back on May 16, 1938, says Woolf. "It's fitting that we commemorate the program's beginning, point to the many advances that have taken place in the four decades, and to take stock of the tremendous service the A.I. organization provides its members today." he said.

Unit 1 is a member of the Northeastern Breeders Association, headquartered in Tunkhannock, Pa., and in turn a part of Sire Power, Inc., a federation of A.I. cooperatives.

Speaker for the occasion will be The Honorable Phillip Alampi, New Jersey Secretary of Agriculture. A slide presentation depicting Unit 1 through the years will be featured along with an exhibit displaying equipment used down through the years in laboratory and field A.I. work

Crickets foretell temperature while fiddling

NEWARK, Del. – Crickets - nature's fiddlers - produce their shrill music by rubbing their wings together, explains University of Delaware extension entomologist Frank E. Boys. When the Common field cricket wants to make his call, he raises his wings to an approximate 45-degree angle from his body. A file on one wing rasps against a scraper on the other, creating a sound that is pleasing to some people and irritating to others.

During this fiddling process, called stridulation, the insect controls the volume and direction of the sound by position of the wings in relation to the body. For example, to make the muted, muffled notes that give the illusion of distance, the wings are lowered close to the back. Only adult male crickets chirp or fiddle, but females, with ears in their knees, listen. Wingless baby crickets are seen and not heard.

Entomologists have found that the various cricket calls have meanings. Some are love songs, others announce danger, still others are the equivalent of "Here I am, Mable!"

Did you know that the temperature can accurately be told from the song of the snowy tree cricket? This outdoor species is often seen on the trunks of trees and is abundant in Delaware. Just count the number of chirps in 15 seconds, add 40, and you have the number of degrees Fahrenheit with surprising accuracy. In general, crickets do not chirp at all when it is colder than 55 degrees or at temperatures higher than 100 degrees.

Of the 2000 known species of crickets, the two that concern Delawareans the most are the common field cricket and the house cricket. The field cricket is usually dark brown to black, but occasionally light-brown specimens are seen. Field crickets fly and jump well. The house cricket is straw-colored, with three dark bands on the head.

Field crickets generally live in grassy areas, including lawns and fence rows, feeding on plant material. They are active at night and attracted to lights. They overwinter as eggs in the ground, and are present outside until the first hard frost. Field crickets are not adapted for indoor living but will invade homes when outdoor populations are high, or when food is scarce.

House crickets generally are found in garbage or refuse dumps, and often invade houses near these areas. They will feed on almost any organic refuse. They stay active the year round and may overwinter as adults in buildings.

Both house and field crickets can damage woolens, silks, cottons, and other fabrics. They feed on a wide variety of organic materials. Large numbers of field and house crickets may do severe damage in one night.

Sanitation will definitely aid in the control of crickets; such things as trash removal and the disposal of vegetation around foundations will discourage the introduction of this pest. It is also helpful to repair loose-fitting doors and windows and cracks in the foundation. In non-food preparing areas residual sprays may be applied to baseboards, in closets, under stairways, and around fireplaces. Treating around the outside foundation with a residual spray is an excellent way to prevent entry.

House okays foreign investment disclosure bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. House of Representatives has passed the Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act of 1978, which is designed to keep track of purchases and sales of American farmland by foreigners. Congressman Robert Walker of Lancaster-Lebanon-Chester Counties, Pa. was one of the prime sponsors. The bill was passed on Sept. 26, after Walker first introduced it on May 10 of this year. Walker termed the bill "an important first step toward adequately protecting America's farmland from irresponsible foreign investment."

"While this legislation does not go quite as far as I would have preferred, I am nonetheless very pleased that the House has taken this action in such a timely fashion," Walker said.

Walker, who was the first in the House to introduce legislation requiring foreigners to disclose transactions involving any substantial amount of domestic farmland, also said he felt that in several ways the bill brought to the House floor by the Family Farm Subcommittee strengthened his original proposal.

During the course of the House debate on the legislation, Congressman Charles Grassley of Iowa, the Ranking Minority Member of the Subcommittee, credited Walker with having originated the legislation which the final action addressed.

"Farmland is one of our nation's most precious resources and I am optimistic that this legislation will go a long way toward assuring that our nation's food growing capacity does not fall under foreign control," Walker said.

Under the House passed bill, the purchase or sale of farmland in this country by a foreigner or foreign entity would be reported to the Secretary of Agriculture on an annual basis. The Secretary would then compile the data, analyze it and submit his findings to the President and Congress for appropriate action.

Failure to comply with the disclosure requirement would result in a civil action being initiated by the Attorney General with actual penalties left for the court to determine.

"The only shortcoming in this bill is that agents acting on behalf of foreign interests are not required to disclose their activities. In spite of this reservation, however, I feel that this legislation is a very positive accomplishment," Walker said.

He also noted that the Senate must now be urged to take up the issue in a timely fashion so that the law can be put on the books and the necessary information gathered as soon as possible.

"I firmly believe that our future is tied to a strong commitment to preserving our nation's farmland now," Walker concluded.

Feidt wins Holstein show

GRATZ — David Feidt, winner of the Holstein and Brown Swiss contests in 4-H competition at the Gratz Fair, scored the same victories in the open show. New Hampshire named free of swine brucellosis

NEW YORK, N.Y. - New Hampshire was recognized by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as the 14th Validated Swine Brucellosis-Free state.

A certificate recognizing this achievement was presented to Howard C. Townsend, New Hampshire state Commissioner of Agriculture, at the state office building in Concord, N.H. on September 27.

A. E. Decoteau, area veterinarian in charge for USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, made the presentation.

Brucellosis in swine is a bacterial disease caused by the organism Brucella suis which can be transmitted to man as undulant fever. About 50 per cent of the annually reported cases of undulant fever can be traced to contacts with infected swine.

New Hampshire animal health officials "validated" all counties in the state individually by testing all herds with breeding stock and by surveillance for the disease through testing sows and boars at slaughter under the Market Swine Testing program.

The following 13 states are currently Validated Brucellosis-free: Colorado, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

Validation status is maintained in these states by carrying out required procedures to locate and eliminate infection that might have been introduced by swine imported from other states.

BAR-LOK

THE ADVANTAGES OF SPEEDY CORN CRIBS

1 Easy to Erect
Speedy s Corn Crib goes up fast and easy because of roof rafters and Bar Lok side panels The steeply pitched roof pushes the corn to the edges — NO WASTED SPACE!

Step 1 Bar Lok Construction saves you time — gives you a strong sturdy crib Crib wire panels are interlaced to form an eye A 13 x3/8 rod is then inserted through the eye and pushed down to the foundation Easy simple fast construction

Step 2 Rafters are bolted to assembled rafter ring Now you re ready to put the roof panels on Rafters assure you of proper roof panel placement the first time No wooden framework to build

2 Wide Selection
There is a Speedy Crib for every farm need priced right for every budget
- Choice of 900 1200 or 1700 Bushel Sizes
- 5 or 2 Gauge Wire Mesh Side Panels

3 Durable
The Speedy 5 Gauge Crib won t bulge or sag stands straight and tall year after year For extra strength and durability get the Speedy 2 Gauge Crib— outlasts other cribs—even with full capacity loads Galvanized wire not aluminum paint

4 Save Money and Energy
Corn stored in a Speedy Crib is dried by Mother Nature without the use of costly energy This saves money and also helps conserve our scarce energy resources

Shelhamer urges rabies vaccination for pets

HARRISBURG - As the incidence of rabies increases each Summer and early Fall, a large number of household pets may be exposed to the disease. State Agriculture Secretary Kent Shelhamer is urging pet owners to have their dogs and cats vaccinated to prevent the loss of their pets through contact with rabid animals.

Rabies is an acute virus disease of the nervous system of warm-blooded animals which is usually transmitted through the bite or scratch of an infected animal. Although the majority of positive rabies diagnoses involve bats, in the past foxes, raccoons, skunks, dogs and cats have been found to have the disease. Vaccines have been developed, however, to protect pets against the virus.

Rabies vaccines come in three types, both inactivated virus vaccine which is administered annually, and two forms of modified live rabies virus which can be administered every three years.

Shelhamer said that a vaccination against rabies is an inexpensive way to protect a pet. "If you love your pet, you will protect it. A rabies vaccination is a simple means to avoid the heart rending situation when a child is forced to lose his pet because his parents did not see fit to innoculate it against rabies."

The incubation period for rabies varies from a few weeks to over a year, depending on the carrier animal. Because of this, animals may be infected but the virus may not make itself known for long periods of time.

If an owner suspects his pet has been exposed to rabies, the pet should be confined and a veterinarian should immediately be contacted. If your pet is bitten by a known animal, the biting animal should be confined for ten days. After the ten-day period, if the offending animal is healthy, you can once again allow your pet some freedom.

The Agriculture Secretary noted that 19 positive cases of rabies were diagnosed in the commonwealth in 1977. The Department's Summerdale laboratory provides rabies diagnostic services free of charge. Results are reported to the concerned individuals following completion of the testing procedure.

Square dancing classes organizing

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - Teens who are looking for something that's fun, new, and challenging may be interested in a modern square dance class being sponsored by the Hunterdon Hayshakers 4-H Square Dance Club for young people in the 6th to the 12th grades. The class will be held Thursdays, from 6 to 7:20 p.m. at the North Hunterdon High School girls' gym. There will be eight sessions starting on October 19 with one free introductory lesson on October 12. Price for all eight lessons is $10. The instructor is national professioinal square dance caller, teacher, leader Dick Jones.

Modern square dancing uses modern, pop music. It concentrates on learning the basic movements from all the various positions rather than on learning dances. Once the basic movements are known, they can be put together in many different combinations and the dancers can enjoy an infinite number of dances without further instruction.

The same basic movements are being taught in square dance classes all over the United States and in thirty five foreign countries. This makes it possible for people from all over the state, in fact all over the country and even foreign countries to enter a dance complete strangers, square up on the dance floor and dance all night to a caller they never heard before.

Although this class is for teens, there are also several adult classes now forming in the area. For further information call Mrs. Peter Ternosky at 609-537-2564 or Dick Jones 609-832-7580.

Nursery class opening

NEFFSVILLE — The Neffsville Christian Nursery School, sponsored by Long Memorial United Methodist Church, Neffsville, has opened another class for 2½ year olds on Tuesdays. Classes are held from 9:30 a.m. until noon. There are also a few openings in some of the older classes.

The purpose of this school is to provide for children in a Christian atmosphere the basic educational training and group experience preparatory to entering kindergarten, and to enable them to grow in Christian habits, attitudes and ideals.

Plant a fall cover crop and relax this winter.

A fall cover crop does a variety of things for you. It prevents excessive erosion problems. It conserves valuable soil moisture. Perhaps most important, it gives you the option of planting the No-Tillage way next spring. Just burn off the fall cover with ORTHO Paraquat CL herbicide and plant right into the stubble. For best results, apply Paraquat with ORTHO X-77 Spreader. Let's talk about it.

Berks County 4-H Lamb Sale tops $2000

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

LEESPORT - For the second year in a row 16-year old Joe Crisafulli of Mohrsville took grand champion honors of the Berks County 4-H Market Lamb Sale, held here at the Leesport Market and Auction. Making the accomplishment even more exciting for the young man was the fact that his champion, a Suffolk-Hampshire cross was a full brother to his champion of the previous year.

Joe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crisafulli has been showing in 4-H for five years. He shows steers and horses besides his prize winning sheep and hopes to study animal science after graduating from high school. Presently he is in the eleventh grade at Schuylkill Valley High School. Joe was also named the senior champion showman of this same event.

Showing the reserve grand champion was 15-year old David Ernst, Sinking Spring. David, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ernst lead a light-heavyweight Suffolk. He has been showing sheep for six years.

Paying $1.00 per pound for the grand champion and $1.20 for the reserve champion was Rodney Muthard of Muthard's Meats, Temple. A total of 28 lambs were sold by the participating 4-H'ers averaging $.79 per pound. The total lamb weight was 2720 pounds making the total sales for the event $2,166.40.

Judging the show was Mike Fournier, Bucks County Extension Agent. Following are the complete results:

Alisa Marie Fava loves animals, especially Guernsey cows. She also treasures her 4-H experiences.

State Guernsey princess treasures 4-H years

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG — For Alisa Marie Fava, the 4-H experience is one which has held many tangible and intangible treasures. She has met interesting new people, made many friends, learned a lot, won a lot of prizes, and it has helped direct her thoughts and goals.

At 17, she is possibly one of the most familiar faces in Pennsylvania Guernsey circles. She is the reigning State Guernsey Princess and will compete for the national crown at the national convention in Arizona in May of next year. She is also the owner of 15 cows and heifers and has exhibited the grand champion at the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show for four out of the past six years. She captured the top title again this year after having had the runner-up spot a year ago. Her cows were also champions in 1973, 1975, and 1976. There is a chance she may have won the title in 1974 were it not for the fact that her previous year's champion died a month before the show. Her grand champion last week was a granddaughter of that cow.

Miss Fava, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fava, makes her home on her parents' Washington County dairy farm where her father and uncle keep a herd of 110 Guernsey cows. She helps with the chores and maintains close to an 'A' average at Mon-Valley Catholic High School, where she is a senior. She is striving for a good academic record in order to increase her chances for admission at Cornell University. She would like to major in veterinary research studies there.

"I'm definitely interested in animals," the young lady emphasized during an interview last week. "I'm going to work with animals no matter which way I go, she said, leaving no doubt that she loves and enjoys her four-legged friends

A 4-H'er for seven years, the Washington County girl is a member of the Pike Run 4-H Club. She is also co-editor of her school yearbook and captain of the color guard.

Although she has owned and exhibited several grand champions, Miss Fava takes special pride in this year's banner-winning cow because she was bred and born on the home farm. Co-Hill Farms J Tracy, sired by Dolly Run Glens Juzie, was her first home-bred grand champion.

According to 4-H regulations, Miss Fava has two more years of eligibility for membership. The string of accomplishments the young lady will have credited to her name by then will be hard to surpass. She is the kind of girl who strives for first place consistently and her records prove it.

Sweigart's steer wins

GRATZ — Kaye Sweigard and Matthew Keiter exhibited the grand and reserve grand champion steer, respectively, at the recent Gratz Fair. Miss Sweigard's entry was the heavyweight champion while the Keiter animal was first in the mediumweight division. Tops among the lightweights was an entry by Judy Fair.

Placing second in the respective classes of competition were: Marc Webster, lightweights; Janice Kaylor, mediumweights; and Grayson Fair, heavyweights.

GRATZ — Janice Kaylor and Kaye Sweigard showed the top Charolais and Angus beef breeding animals, respectively at the recent Gratz Fair.

WHAT'S NEW

CROP PLANNING GUIDE

Crop management inputs are offered by Acco Seed Company in their new 1979 crop planning guide.

The 48-page guide is packed with useful tips on planting, managing and irrigating for higher yields. It gives crop strategies and concise conversion and comparison charts. Also included is a separate recordkeeping section that helps farmers keep track of crop production.

Hybrids are arranged by maturity groups for easy reference. Also included is an explanation of the services available from Acco including trained dealers and experienced crop management agronomists.

"The purpose of the guide is to help our customers get the best return possible from every unit of seed run through the planter," said Murray Robinson, president of Acco Seed.

Franklin County boy says 'take 4-H seriously'

HARRISBURG — Paul Cashell, 15, has some advice for anyone interested in joining 4-H.

"Take it seriously, don't carry on like some kids do," he says, adding that the work and activities of the club can be very helpful in learning skills and developing character. "For example, I was fortunate enough to be on the winning state dairy bowl team from Franklin County," the young man continued, "that's really something, especially for younger kids - they can learn a lot about their projects. I know I did - like the parts of a cow and how much protein calves should be fed and how to prepare animals for the show." In short, Cashell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cashell, Chambersburg R6, believes that a dedicated 4-H'er can learn "just about everything."

A 6-year member of the Eastern Dairy 4-H Club, Cashell became interested in 4-H because of his interest in dairy cattle. He enjoys showing his animals most of all and considered his performance at the state show last week as the highlight of his career. His junior yearling was named reserve junior champion.

Cashell's home is on a 700 acre farm where his father is general manager. The farm's Ni-Crete Holsteins are well-known throughout the area. A total of 250 head are kept there. "I help out wherever they need me," the young man said.

Paul Cashell

With farming and particularly registered Holsteins very much a part of his life, Cashell surprises no one when he says he'd like to farm on his own someday. "I like animals and I enjoy working with them," the young man concluded.

Angus meeting set for Louisville

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. - Some 343 Angus delegates from 47 states are set to meet in Louisville, Kentucky, November 13, for the 1978 American Angus Association Annual Meeting, reports Dr. C. K. Allen, association executive secretary.

The meeting which is open to the public, will be at 1:30 p.m. in the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center building in Louisville. The meeting will follow the judging of the females in the 1978 National Angus Show held in conjunction with the North American International Livestock Exposition. The heifer show will begin at 8 a.m. Monday.

Bob Richards, two-time Olympic pole vaulting champion and an outstanding motivational and entertaining speaker, will highlight the National Angus Banquet and Ball. The event will be Monday evening, in the Executive West Hotel, following the annual meeting.

The Angus events will conclude Tuesday with the judging of the National Angus Show bulls beginning at 9 a.m. The 1978 National Angus Show features $20,000 in prize money and will attract many of the top young Angus breeding cattle in the nation. The combination of the Annual Meeting and the National Angus Show is expected to bring to Louisville one of the largest crowds to see an Angus show in recent years.

Hogs, steers sold at Lampeter Fair

LAMPETER — Shawn Charles, Lancaster, sold his grand champion hog, weighing 218 pounds, for $2.00 per pound at the FFA Fat Hog Sale, held as part of the West Lampeter Community Fair. The animal was purchased by Hatfield Packing Company.

It was a repeat performance for the reserve champion hog, which was also shown by Shawn Charles, and bought by Hatfield Packing Company. That animal brought $1.30 per pound.

The grand champion FFA steer, which was owned by James Frey, Willow STreet, was sold to Witmer's IGA, for a price of $2.50 per pound. That animal weighed in at 1,125 pounds.

Tim Hess, Lancaster, who showed the reserve champion FFA steer, sold his 975 pound animal to John J, Hoober, Gordonville, at the price of 75 cents per pound.

Convention plans finalized for York Farm Women Societies

YORK – Plans were made for the Annual Convention of York County Farm Women Society at an executive board meeting held at York Mall community room.

Mrs. Harold Sechrist, president, conducted the meeting. Ruth Hake, chairlady of the scrapbook, requested that the president of each group should see to it that the news of each group be sent to different papers. Mrs. Charles Bupp is a nominee for second vice-president for a state office.

Four girls received scholarships this year. They are Jean Jordan and Paula Trimpey of York County, Debra Rohrer of Lancaster County, and Claudia Whited of Somerset County.

The annual convention of York County Society of Farm Women will be held November 2 at the St. Matthew Lutheran Church, 839 W. Market St. York. Registration will begin at 9 a.m., with the convention officially opening at 10 a.m. Featured will be the Farmers Daughters, music by the Spiece Family and an appearance of Eva Mae Crist, auther of "Take This House."

The meeting will be concluded with installation of local and county officers collectively by state president Mrs. Erb.

The following are a list of convention committees, chairladies and their respective Societies.

Registration will be done by Ada Strickler, Society 11; Miriam Young, Society 34; Sarah Richardson, Society 20; and Sara Eisenhart, Society 23. Name tags, Kathleen Mills, Society 30, and Ruth Hake, Society 26.

Coffee and tea hour will be conducted by past York County presidents: Beatrice Heindel, Genet Sellers, Maybelle Kilgore, and Mary Hoffman.

Hostesses and greeters will be York County past presidents: Grace Krout, Grace Perry, Mary Carmen, Jona Krone, Mable Rishel and Nedra Graybeal.

Registration of guests will be done by Naomi Bupp. Auditors will be Carolyn Neal, Society 31, and Pauline Rishel, Society 1.

Usheretts and tellers are Ruth Mingo, Society 8; and Judy Brenneman, Society 35; and Ida Musser, Society 6.

A special project, "Happiness for Others," will be conducted by Marie Smyser, Society 13.

Noon blessing will be given by state chaplain, Opal Ruhl.

Nominating committee to nominate a treasurer is Mary Carmen, Society 11; Alberta Strine, Society 15, and Charlotte Kimmell, Society 15.

Bazaar tables will be run by Treva Stiles, Society 18; Lindalee Robinson, Society 33; Miriam Hull, Society 5; Nancy Emsziler, Society 7, and Joanne Anderson, Society 9.

Favor committee includes Dorthy Sinclair, Society 29; Alma Stambaugh, Society 16; Poly Oberlander, Society 27, and Phyllis Greenplate, Society 19.

Table decorations will be done by Juanita Zhisamant, Society 22; Faye Miller, Society 10; Grace Ferree, Society 2, and Ruth Wellinger, Society 25.

Memorial and Altar Flowers will be done by Janet Kohler, Society 12.

Grant to visit Libya

PARK RIDGE, Ill - Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, goes to Tripoli, Libya, October 9 to participate in the first Arab-American Dialogue, a week-long people-to- people conference.

Panel topics will deal with Arab-American political realities and prospects; Arab-American economic relationships; cultural, scientific and educational exchanges; and the role of the mass media in Arab-American relations.

Grant will represent American agriculture as one of two panelists in the economic discussion group.

Milk support price at $9.64

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has announced that the support price for manufacturing milk will be $9.64 per hundredweight for the new marketing year which began Oct. 1. The announced price is for milk with a milkfat content of 3.5 per cent and compares with the old support of $9.21. The support price for milk with the U.S. annual average milkfat content of 3.67 per cent is now $9.87, compared with the old support of $9.43

The law requires that milk be supported at a level between 80 and 90 per cent of parity to assure an adequate supply of milk, reflect changes in the cost of production and assure a level of farm income adequate to maintain productive capacity sufficient to meet anticipated future needs.

The support for milk is achieved by purchases of butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk at prices which enable manufacturing plants, on the average, to pay producers the support price for their milk.

'World' reaches milestone

SANDY CREEK, N.Y. - With the close of 1978, the Holstein-Friesian World, official publication for the Holstein breed in the U.S., will have completed 75 years of service to the registered Holstein industry. To commemorate the occasion, the World will publish a special Diamond Jubilee issue on January 10, 1979, recapping some of the highlights of Holstein history over the years.

The first issue of Holstein-Friesian World appeared on January 1, 1904. It may be of interest that the present editor and managing editor are the son and grandson respectively of one of the World's founders. Also, the publisher is the son of the late M. S. Prescott, World editor from 1914 until his death in 1976.

Offices of the Holstein-Friesian World are in Sandy Creek, N.Y.
